Democrats Peg Foreign Policy As 1958 Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) said today Democrats are going to run against Secretary of State Dulles in next year's battle for control of Congress.

Smathers, who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, is convinced criticism of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policies helped Democrat William Proxmire win an upset victory in Tuesday's special Senate election in Wisconsin.

Proxmire defeated Republican Walter J. Kohler, a former governor, who ran as a strong supporter of President Eisenhower.

"The Republicans ran against Dean Acheson when he was secretary of state," Smathers said. "Secretary Dulles represents this administration's uncertain foreign policies and he is a legitimate target for attack in the campaign."

Smathers spoke as Proxmire waited to be sworn in as the first Democratic senator elected from Wisconsin since 1932. Proxmire was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, a Republican.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) agreed with Smathers that foreign policy is likely to be one of the prime political issues in 1958.

"I think there are three fronts on which we ought to hit the Republicans hard — foreign policy failures, their lack of a farm program and their tight money policy that is pinching the small business man, the laboring man and the farmer," Humphrey said.

Proxmire, in a news conference here Wednesday night, said "I campaigned strictly on the Democratic record in Congress. So my success was both a rejection of the Eisenhower administration and an affirmation of the Democratic program."

"Smathers said he agrees with Proxmire's estimate that the defeat of Kohler represented a protest against Eisenhower and his policies.

"I don't think there is any question Eisenhower's popularity as President is diminishing rapidly," Smathers said. "He is still personally popular but people are getting disenchanted with him as President."

Proxmire plans to run next year for a full six-year term. His will be one of 12 Democratic Senate seats at stake, along with 20 Republican seats.

Proxmire flew into Washington Wednesday night, expecting to be seated in the Senate promptly. But Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California blocked the attempt, saying the ceremony would have to await receipt of official word from Wisconsin that the 41-year-old Proxmire had been elected.

Arkansas Girl, 9, Is Mother of Son

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A 9-year-old mother and her premature son today were reported by physicians to be in good condition at the University of Arkansas Medical Center.

The 2½-pound baby, born Wednesday, was given a good chance of survival. It was born almost two months prematurely.

Hospital officials said the mother was the youngest in their records. The name of the mother and all other details about her were withheld.

Hotel Toothpick Said Worth $10,565

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—James L. Goudreau of Detroit claims the toothpick a Lansing hotel gave him is worth $10,565.

Goudreau, in a law suit, says the hotel served him the toothpick inside of a hamurger. He says the toothpick stuck in his throat and he "became sick, sore, disordered and suffered grievous pains, injury medical expenses and loss of earnings from employment to a total of $10,565."

Senators Pressing Probe Into Spare Parts Waste

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators called an assistant secretary of defense for questioning today as to who shipped $44 million worth of unneeded spare parts to Far North air bases.

The investigations subcommittee summoned Asst. Secretary Perkins McGuire to discuss the supply shipments, and called a warrant officer, Benny Wilks, to tell about the reported burial of $30,000 worth of surplus material.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), heard some confusing testimony Wednesday in its efforts to learn how much the government lost in surplus supplies at the northern bases, who is to blame, and whether the problem could develop again.

In a report to the subcommittee, the Pentagon acknowledged military responsibility.

But questioning by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), a former secretary of the Air Force, brought testimony that perhaps it was just a foulup resulting from the rapid changing of plans in the rush to activate

Dr. Persinger Named Trustee At Wilmington

Dr. J. H. Persinger, 450 Rawlings St., physician and civic leader, is a new trustee of Wilmington College, Dr. Samuel D. Marble, president of the college, announced Thursday.

Dr. Persinger, a 1930 Wilmington graduate, thus becomes the only Fayette County person on the college's 22-member board.

Dr. Persinger is on a tour with his family in Europe, but associates at Fayette Memorial Hospital said he had been "consulted about the possibility of his becoming a trustee," before he left here July 31. He is due to return Sept. 15.

THE SON of a Wilmington graduate and the father of a Wilmington student, Dr. Persinger has long been active in Wilmington affairs. His father, Dr. Carey Persinger of Sabina, a member of the class of 1889, is still active in alumni activities.

A daughter, Julia, is a member of the class of 1958 there.

Dr. Persinger and his wife, Louise, have two other children, Jean, a 1957 Washington High School graduate who did summer work at Wilmington this year, and Jack, a WHS student.

A 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Rotary Club and of the First Presbyterian Church here, Dr. Persinger was the first chief of the medical staff at Fayette Memorial Hospital when it opened in 1950.

In addition, he acts as team physician for all Washington C. H. High School athletics.

He is a member of the Ohio Medical Assn., the Fayette County Medical Assn. and the American Association of Railway Surgeons.

DR. PERSINGER received his medical degree at the University of Louisville in 1932, and served his internship at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus. He spent time in residence at Children's Hospital, Columbus, before coming here.

Dr. Persinger was one of three new trustees named by the executive committee of the board. Others are Edward Kohnle, president of the Monarch Marking System Co., Dayton, and Harry M. Feike, Wilmington insurance agent.

Terms of the three new members have not been determined. Their appointment increased board membership from 19 to 22 members. Normally, members serve six-year overlapping terms.

Rights Bill Filibuster Is One-Man Job

Thurmond Attempt To Block Action Labeled 'Futile'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) got his second wind and developed an edgy temper today as he ran on past 15 hours in his one-man filibuster against the civil rights bill.

It was the first time the Senate had stayed in round-the-clock session since 1954. In a 22-hour and 26-minute speech by Sen. Morse (D-Ore) against the tidefalls bill in 1953, he set an unofficial Senate record for marathon talk.

Indicating he was not about to quit, Thurmond promised he would "discuss at some length" the protections he said South Carolina voters get under state laws. He proceeded to do just that.

The flashes of temper appeared as other senators conferred, in whispers, on the floor.

At one point Thurmond called for order in the chamber when a clerk whispered something to Sen. Yarborough (D-Tex.), who was presiding at the time.

There were glares from time to time at other whisperers.

Thurmond kept his talk going in the face of word from Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, that it was all futile.

Knowland first told the South Carolina senator he will not be able to block Senate action by long talk.

Knowland said there will be no resolution for final adjournment of this session of Congress "until we have completed work on the pending legislation—which is the civil rights bill."

Then the Republican leader asked Thurmond if he was trying to emphasize "the need for a change in January of 1958?"

Rule 22 is the one that makes it difficult to shut off debate in the Senate. It requires the votes of 64 senators (two-thirds of the full membership) to apply a limit to debate.

Up to this session Southerners have taken advantage of that rule, by either actual or threatened filibusters to block civil rights legislation. Other senators have conducted filibusters under it against other legislation.

Thurmond made no specific reply to Knowland's question.

Cash, Cigarettes, Meat Stolen in 2 Burglaries

Between $70 and $100 and 40 cartons of cigarettes were taken in a burglary at the Triangle Bar-B-Q, 1429 Columbus Ave., and an undetermined amount of cigarettes and cash, along with 19 pounds of meat, were taken in another break-in at the East St. Restaurant, 218 E. East St. Wednesday night.

The two breaks were similar city police said, indicating a good possibility that the same burglars were involved in both jobs.

Police discovered the Triangle Bar-B-Q break-in about 4 a. m. on their rounds when they found a back window open. Mrs. Milton C. Lwiler, 733 S. Main St., waitress at the restaurant, discovered the East St. burglary when she came to work about 5 a. m.

THE INTRUDERS had pried open the back window and later opened a back door from the inside at the Bar-B-Q. A juke box and two coin-operated game machines had been pried open. Mrs. Earl Stratton, wife of the proprietor, estimated the loot at 40 cartons of cigarettes and between $70 and $100. Most of the money was in small change, she observed.

Mrs. James Stritenberger, whose husband operates the East St. Restaurant, said she would have to confer with her husband and with a vending machine operator before she could determine the amount of cash and cigarettes taken from pried-open machines.

A 14-pound ham and five pounds of hamburger were taken from the kitchen. Mrs. Stritenberger said. Two boxes of cigars also were reported missing.

A back window had been pried open there, too. Police Sgt. Virgil Harris said he believed the tool used for opening the windows and the machines in each place "could have been the same."

"And the first lady?" he was asked. "Mamie Eisenhower," said Mitchell.

Russians Turn Down Arms Cut Proposal

New Indictment Handed Beck

His Son, 4 Others Facing Tax Raps

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A second multiple indictment charging evasion of income taxes—this time totaling $184,000—faced Dave Beck today. His son and four others are accused of aiding him conceal his earnings.

The seven count charge covering the years 1951-53 was returned here Wednesday by a federal grand jury and quickly denied in Los Angeles by the portly head of the Teamsters Union.

It culminated a four and a half week investigation by the jurors who indicted Beck May 2 on charges of evading $56,000 in taxes in 1950.

The conspiracy indictment, in two counts, charges all six defendants concealed and misrepresented Beck's actual income.

Maximum penalty for income tax evasion and for conspiracy is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for each count.

Immediately after the indictments were returned, federal Judge John C. Bower issued bench warrants for the six men.

HE RAISED Beck's bail from the $5,000 set after the May indictment to $25,000, and set bail for the others at $5,000 each.

Beck, attending a Teamsters executive board meeting in Los Angeles, greeted news of the new indictments with an "I'm not guilty" comment.

"I'm not surprised," he said. "It's happening every day. I'm not guilty, that I assure you. Certified public accountants always made out my income tax. All I did was sign it. If any mistake was made, they made it."

None of the others could be reached for comment.

Judge Bowen set Sept. 12 for arraignment of the six men.

City School Bus Schedules Posted

More than 2,300 students will be enrolled in the Washington C. H. school system by 9 a. m. next Wednesday.

Superintendent W. A. Smith has announced that the system is certain to have 2,297 students, and it is expected that an additional 20 may enroll late.

There were 2,131 last year.

As of Thursday morning 874 students were expected in the high school and 1423 were expected to be enrolled in the lower grades as compared with 1,282 in the elementary grades last year.

An increase of at least 90 students is expected this year in the high school. Last year's senior class graduated 97 students but this fall 110 seniors will be enrolled.

By classes, in the high school system.

You'll find a complete schedule of city school bus trips on Page 13 today.

tem, there should be 51 freshmen, 171 sophomores and 131 juniors.

IN LINE with the increase of students, additional bus service was announced to the parents of elementary students this week.

Two buses will be used this year—the same as last year—but each bus will make six round trips each day.

The money, to be raised through issuance of a note, will be used (1) to replace two 50-year-old boilers in the high school building in compliance with orders issued by the Ohio Industrial Commission; (2) for purchasing furniture and equipment for emergency classroom and (3) to pay back the sum of $1,500 to the general operating fund which was used as a down payment on a 30-acre site for a new Eastside elementary school building at the corner of Willard and Elm Sts.

The board will borrow the money from the First National Bank in anticipation of the issuance of $645,000 in bonds voted by the people last November.

THE NEW BOILERS will require an expenditure of $41,000; the furniture-equipment item totals $2,400 and there is an additional $2,458 set up for architect's fees in connection with the boiler project. The final item is $1,662 for interest on the note.

Before approving the issuance of a note, the board rescinded its action of Nov. 19, 1956, when it

State Fair's Attendance Still Lagging

COLUMBUS (AP)—With only today and Friday remaining before this year's show closes, the Ohio State Fair will have to draw some large last minute crowds or attendance will be less than last year.

For today, at least, the weatherman had some dismal news. Lots of clouds, he said, and probably some rain.

This year's total so far, not counting Wednesday's unannounced attendance, is about 219,000, some 43,000 short of last year's count for the same period.

For one man, attendance—both at the fair and at his show—is now irrelevant, at least financially.

Tennessee Ernie Ford's show has thus far drawn 29,763 paying customers for a total of $60,255. He keeps the $60,000 under terms of a contract when he splits 60-40 with the fair on the first $100,000. All of today's and Friday's receipts go to the fair.

Ford entertained nearly 800 crippled children in a special show at the grandstand Wednesday morning. He walked through the audience to greet children unable to come to the stage.

The No. 1 topic at the fair, however, is still livestock.

Judging concludes today with Aberdeen, Angus, Brahman, and Holstein cattle; Oxf and Landrace swine; and Oxford Southdowns sheep. There is also a sheep-shearing event.

The reserve champion earload lot, Herefords weighing 22,600 pounds, was bought by Albers Supermarket of Columbus for $30 per hundredweight from Donald Putman, Rt. 1, Ada.

Congress Expected To OK $3.4 Billion in Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—An adjournment Congress was set to pass finally today a $3,435,810,000 money bill to pay for military and economic aid to friendly nations around the globe.

The compromise bill, including $2,768,760,000 in new funds and $667,050,000 in re-appropriated funds from previous years, was agreed upon by Senate and House conferees Wednesday.

The compromise figure is $244 million more than the House originally voted and $256 million below the Senate amount.

day. Last year they made only four.

No. 1 school bus, on its first trip will make 17 stops picking up third and fourth grades pupils who will be taken to the emergency classrooms in the Methodist Church and in the high school. On its second trip of the day, the bus will carry fifth and sixth graders to the high school and to the emergency room in the Christian Church.

On its final morning trip, No. 1 bus will haul all elementary students west of Court St. and east of Highland Ave. to Cherry Hill.

City Board Votes To Issue $49,250 Note

The Washington C. H. Board of Education voted Wednesday night to borrow $49,250 to carry on a fractional part of the building program voted by residents of school district last November.

The money, to be raised through issuance of a note, will be used (1) to replace two 50-year-old boilers in the high school building in compliance with orders issued by the Ohio Industrial Commission; (2) for purchasing furniture and equipment for emergency classroom and (3) to pay back the sum of $1,500 to the general operating fund which was used as a down payment on a 30-acre site for a new Eastside elementary school building at the corner of Willard and Elm Sts.

Prize Fat Cattle Bring $34 Price

COLUMBUS (AP)—Top price paid at the Ohio State Fair's fat cattle sale was $34 per hundredweight for a carload lot (20) of Angus fat cattle owned by Vern E. Perkins of Rt. 4, Wauson. This carload lot, weighing 19,580 pounds and purchased by Big Bear Stores of Columbus, was the grand champion lot of the show. Its price exceeded last year's price of $33.50 per hundredweight.

The reserve champion carload lot, Herefords weighing 22,600 pounds, was bought by Albers Supermarket of Columbus for $30 per hundredweight from Donald Putman, Rt. 1, Ada.

The section referred to was that providing for use of weapons only in self-defense.

The 11 points of the Western plan, which is officially designated as a "working paper" (proposals) for partial measures of disarmament, cover not only specific arms reduction and control measures but also the creation of inspection and control machinery under an "international control organization."

ONE SECTION provides that any nation can renounce its commitments under the proposed treaty by simply giving written notice in the event that some other nation is guilty of an "important violation."

Another section says that the proposals constitute a single package and that "its provisions are inseparable."

Wednesday, President Eisenhower issued a statement appealing to Russia not to reject the Western proposals before they have been seriously studied. Eisenhower said rejection "would condemn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger."

The President's statement reflected deep official concern here over two moves made by the Soviet government earlier this week. The first was a claim to having made a successful test of an intercontinental missile. The second was a blast at Western disarmament proposals as outlined in the London talks this summer.

Eisenhower branded the Soviet rocket announcement of Monday as "boastful" and the attack on Western disarmament proposals as "scornful."

Steel Price Hike Said To Be Ample

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) says a recent $6-a-ton steel price hike is substantially larger than the industry's increased labor costs.

Reviewing an inquiry by the Senate antitrust subcommittee, Kefauver said Wednesday the price increase first announced by U.S. Steel and then followed by other steel producers will cost buyers an additional $40 million dollars.

The price boost went into effect July 1, at the same time as new wage increases became effective under a labor contract.

Kefauver said U.S. Steel spokesmen and labor witnesses disagreed in testimony over how much higher wages have increased costs, with the company putting the difference at $3.25 a ton and the Steel Workers Union figuring it at $2.54 a ton.

"But whether one uses the steel company's estimate of that of the union," Kefauver said, "it is obvious that there is a substantial gap between the $6 price increase and the amount by which its wage costs were increased—the gap ranging from $2.75 to $3.50 per ton."

He said the subcommittee will investigate what he called "price leadership by U.S. Steel" in a series of hearings in October. After that, he said, the subcommittee will investigate prices in the farm machinery industry.

As for competition in the steel industry, Kefauver said, "the central fact is that when U.S. Steel raises its price, it does so with the almost certain knowledge, based on years of experience, that its so-called competitors will make the same increase."

New Latin Area Canal Is Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bonner (D-NC), chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, said today his group is going to make a special study of where a second canal can be built to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

The main reason for the study: the Panama Canal is expected to be crammed to capacity with ship traffic by around the year 1970.

Bonner said there are plans for a subcommittee to visit Nicaragua. But he did not rule out the possibility that any place in Central America from Colombia to Mexico might wind up a recommended site for a new canal.

References to Race Banned by Governor

COLUMBUS (AP)—All references to race as a qualification for employment in state government are to be removed under an executive order issued by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

The order, dated Aug. 8, was made public Wednesday. It directs all state agencies to review job descriptions for additional personnel and to eliminate all racial references.

'Hotfoot' Almost Legal in School

DAYTON (AP)—The Kettering school board almost made it legal to give Fairmont High School students a "hotfoot."

But a board member, caught a typographical error in the clerk's minutes just in time.

The official minutes authorized a vending company to "provide a hot foot by vending machines as needed at the new Fairmont High School." The alert board member explained: "We intend to provide hot food."

LT. GEN. Glenn O. Barcus, who headed the Northeast Air Command, and other military witnesses testified part of the problem stemmed from youthful, inexperienced servicemen untrained in handling inventories.

Barcus called the supply problems a logical sequel to the rapid turnover of Air Force manpower. Maj. Gen. John D. Ryan, materiel director for the Strategic Air Command, said he agreed with Symington and Barcus that this was a big factor.

The military witnesses said rapid shifts were made in the type of warplane stationed at the bases, and that as each type was declared obsolete the parts kept in stock for its repair became obsolete and useless except for scrap.

How much this amounted to was never stated, nor did anyone estimate how much it would have cost to return the parts to this country.

The Pentagon statement said it has recovered some $20 million worth of excess parts from the nine bases in Greenland, Newfoundland and Labrador during the Korean War.

Rights Bill Filibuster Is One-Man Job

Thurmond Attempt To Block Action Labeled 'Futile'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) got his second wind and developed an edgy temper today as he ran on past 15 hours in his one-man filibuster against the civil rights bill.

It was the first time the Senate had stayed in round-the-clock session since 1954. In a 22-hour and 26-minute speech by Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) against the tidelands bill in 1953, he set an unofficial Senate record for marathon talk.

Indicating he was not about to quit, Thurmond promised he would "discuss at some length" the protections he said South Carolina voters get under state laws. He proceeded to do just that.

The flashes of temper appeared as other senators conferred, in whispers, on the floor.

At one point Thurmond called for order in the chamber when a clerk whispered something to Sen. Yarborough (D-Tex.), who was presiding at the time.

There were glares from time to time at other whisperers.

Thurmond kept his talk going in the face of word from Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, that it was all futile.

Knowland first told the South Carolina senator he will not be able to block Senate action by long talk.

Knowland said there will be no resolution for final adjournment of this session of Congress "until we have completed work on the pending legislation—which is the civil rights bill."

Then the Republican leader asked Thurmond if he was trying to emphasize "the need for a change in January of 1958."

Rule 22 is the one that makes it difficult to shut off debate in the Senate. It requires the votes of 64 senators (two-thirds of the full membership) to apply a limit to debate.

Up to this session Southerners have taken advantage of that rule, by either actual or threatened filibusters to block civil rights legislation. Other senators have conducted filibusters under it against other legislation.

Thurmond made no specific reply to Knowland's question.

Cash, Cigarettes, Meat Stolen in 2 Burglaries

Between $70 and $100 and 40 cartons of cigarettes were taken in a burglary at the Triangle Bar-B-Q, 1429 Columbus Ave., and an undetermined amount of cigarettes and cash, along with 19 pounds of meat, were taken in another break-in at the East St. Restaurant, 218 E. East St., Wednesday night.

The two breaks were similar city police said, indicating a good possibility that the same burglars were involved in both jobs.

Police discovered the Triangle Bar-B-Q break-in about 4 a. m. on their rounds when they found a back window open. Mrs. Milton Lwiler, 733 S. Main St., waitress at the restaurant, discovered the East St. burglary when she came to work about 5 a. m.

THE INTRUDERS had pried open the back window and later opened a back door from the inside at the Bar-B-Q. A juke box and two coin-operated game machines had been pried open. Mrs. Earl Stratton, wife of the proprietor, estimated the loot at 40 cartons of cigarettes and between $70 and $100. Most of the money was in small change, she observed.

Mrs. James Stritenberger, whose husband operates the East St. Restaurant, said she would have to confer with her husband and with a vending machine operator before she could determine the amount of cash and cigarettes taken from pried-open machines.

A 14-pound ham and five pounds of hamburger were taken from the kitchen. Mrs. Stritenberger said. Two boxes of cigars also were reported missing.

A back window had been pried open there, too. Police Sgt. Virgil Harris said he believed the tool used for opening the windows and the machines in each place "could have been the same."

First Man: Adam; First Lady: Mamie

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mitchell Sataloff was telling his father of the story of "God making people" which he had learned in lessons at his synagogue.

"Who was the first man?" his father asked. "Adam," the boy replied.

"And the first lady?" he was asked. "Mamie Eisenhower," said Mitchell.

Russians Turn Down Arms Cut Proposal

New Indictment Handed Beck

His Son, 4 Others Facing Tax Raps

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A second multiple indictment charging evasion of income taxes—this time totaling $184,000—faced Dave Beck today. His son and four others are accused of aiding him conceal his earnings.

The seven count charge covering the years 1951-53 was returned here Wednesday by a federal grand jury and quickly denied in Los Angeles by the portly head of the Teamsters Union.

It culminated a four and a half week investigation by the jurors who indicted Beck May 2 on charges of evading $56,000 in taxes in 1950.

The conspiracy indictment, in two counts, charges all six defendants concealed and misrepresented Beck's actual income.

Maximum penalty for income tax evasion and for conspiracy is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for each count.

Immediately after the indictments were returned, federal Judge John C. Bower issued bench warrants for the six men.

HE RAISED Beck's bail from the $5,000 set after the May indictment to $25,000 and set bail for the others at $5,000 each.

Beck, attending a Teamsters executive board meeting in Los Angeles, greeted news of the new indictments with an "I'm not guilty" comment.

"I'm not surprised," he said. "It's happening every day. I'm not guilty, that I assure you. Certified public accountants always made out my income tax. All I did was sign it. If any mistake was made, they made it."

None of the others could be reached for comment.

Judge Bowen set Sept. 12 for arraignment of the six men.

City School Bus Schedules Posted

More than 2,300 students will be enrolled in the Washington C. H. school system by 9 a. m. next Wednesday.

Superintendent W. A. Smith has announced that the system is certain to have 2,297 students, and it is expected that an additional 20 may enroll late.

There were 2,131 last year. As of Thursday morning 874 students were expected in the high school and 1423 were expected to be enrolled in the lower grades as compared with 1,282 in the elementary grades last year.

An increase of at least 90 students is expected this year in the high school. Last year's senior class graduated 97 students but this fall 110 seniors will be enrolled. By classes, in the high school system, there should be 51 freshmen, 171 sophomores and 131 juniors.

You'll find a complete schedule of city school bus trips on Page 13 today.

tem, there should be 51 freshmen, 171 sophomores and 131 juniors.

IN LINE with the increase of students, additional bus service was announced to the parents of elementary students this week. Two buses will be used this year the same as last year—but each bus will make six round trips each

State Fair's Attendance Still Lagging

COLUMBUS (AP)—With only today and Friday remaining before this year's show closes, the Ohio State Fair will have to draw some large last minute crowds or attendance will be less than last year.

For today, at least, the weatherman had some dismal news. Lots of clouds, he said, and probably some rain.

This year's total so far, not counting Wednesday's unannounced attendance, is about 219,000, some 43,000 short of last year's count for the same period.

For one man, attendance—both at the fair and at his show—is now irrelevant, at least financially.

Tennessee Ernie Ford's show has thus far drawn 30,763 paying customers for a total of $60,255. He keeps the $60,000 under terms of a contract when he splits $100,000 with the fair on the first $100,000. All of today's and Friday's receipts go to the fair.

Ford entertained nearly 800 crippled children in a special show at the grandstand Wednesday morning. He walked through the audience to greet children unable to come to the stage.

The No. 1 topic at the fair, however, is still livestock.

Judging concludes today with Aberdeen, Angus, Brahman, and Holstein cattle; OIC and Landrace swine, and Oxford Southdowns in sheep. There is also a sheep-shearing event.

Congress Expected To OK $3.4 Billion in Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—An adjournment-bent Congress was set to pass finally today a $3,435,810,000 money bill to pay for military and economic aid to friendly nations around the globe.

The compromise bill, including $2,768,760,000 in new funds and $667,050,000 in re-appropriated funds from previous years, was agreed upon by Senate and House conferees Wednesday.

The compromise figure is $244 million more than the House originally voted and $256 million below the Senate amount.

The last of the year's appropriations bills, it represents a slash of $1,004,400,000 from President Eisenhower's original foreign aid request in January.

Barring a hitch, the House planned to act first on the compromise. Senate approval was expected later in the day.

This would send the measure to day. Last year they made only four.

No. 1 school bus, on its first trip will make 17 stops picking up third and fourth grades pupils who will be taken to the emergency classrooms in the Methodist Church and in the high school. On its second trip of the day, the bus will carry fifth and sixth graders to the high school and to the emergency room in the Christian Church. On its final morning trip, No. 1 bus will haul all elementary students west of Court St. and east of Highland Ave. to Cherry Hill.

City Board Votes To Issue $49,250 Note

The Washington C. H. Board of Education voted Wednesday night to borrow $49,250 to carry on a fractional part of the building program voted by residents of school district last November.

The money, to be raised through issuance of a note, will be used (1) to replace two 50-year-old boilers in the high school building in compliance with orders issued by the Ohio Industrial Commission; (2) for purchasing furniture and equipment for emergency classroom and (3) to pay back the sum of $1,500 to the general operating fund which was used as a down payment on a 30-acre site for a new Eastside elementary school building at the corner of Willard and Elm Sts.

The board will borrow the money from the First National Bank in anticipation of the issuance of $645,000 in bonds voted by the people last November.

THE NEW BOILERS will require an expenditure of $41,060; the furniture-equipment item totals $2,400 and there is an additional $2,458 set up for architect's fees in connection with the boiler project. The final item is $1,662 for interest on the note.

Before approving the issuance of a note, the board rescinded its action of Nov. 19, 1956, when it

Prize Fat Cattle Bring $34 Price

COLUMBUS (AP)—Top price paid at the Ohio State Fair's fat cattle sale was $34 per hundredweight for a carload lot (20) of Angus fat cattle owned by Vern E. Perkins of Rt. 4, Wauseon. This carload lot, weighing 19,580 pounds and purchased by Big Bear Stores of Columbus, was the grand champion lot of the show. Its price exceeded last year's price of $33.50 per hundredweight.

The reserve champion carload lot, Herefords weighing 22,600 pounds, was bought by Albers Supermarket of Columbus for $30 per hundredweight from Donald Putman, Rt. 1, Ada.

ONE SECTION provides that any nation can renounce its commitments under the proposed treaty by simply giving written notice in the event that some other nation is guilty of an "important violation."

Another section says that the proposals constitute a single package and that "its provisions are inseparable."

Wednesday, President Eisenhower issued a statement appealing to Russia not to reject the Western proposals before they have been seriously studied. Eisenhower said rejection "would condemn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger."

The President's statement reflected deep official concern here over two moves made by the Soviet government earlier this week. The first was a claim to have made a successful test of an intercontinental missile. The second was a blast at Western disarmament proposals as outlined in the London talks this summer.

Eisenhower branded the Soviet rocket announcement of Monday as "boastful" and the attack on Western disarmament proposals as "scornful."

Soviets Say Plan Lacks Genuine Value

LONDON (AP)—Russia tonight turned down the West's plan for a limited disarmament program and insisted it contained nothing of "genuine value," a British informant reported.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin delivered his verdict shortly after the United States, Britain, France and Canada submitted a package plan designed to dispel the shadows of nuclear war.

In a 50-minute speech, the Russian declared that the West's working paper "cannot be considered as offering anything of genuine value."

In offering the proposal, the West said it would halt the East-West atomic arms race and cut military burdens.

The United States originated the proposals but they were worked out jointly with Britain, France and Canada and cleared with the rest of the NATO allies.

With one or two exceptions, the proposals had already been outlined orally in the disarmament talks so that the 3,000-word document contained little new data.

One of the new provisions, designed to meet Russia's insistent call for a ban on the use of nuclear weapons, specifies that each country participating in disarmament would use nuclear weapons only in self-defense. The wording is state in negatives this way:

"EACH PARTY assumes an obligation not to use nuclear weapons if an armed attack has not placed the party in a situation of individual or collective self-defense."

This construction was officially explained as being necessary to allow for the use of nuclear weapons in case the United States, for example, became involved in a "situation of defense" because of an attack on an allied country.

Related to this section was another proposal which is designed to keep the door open for the nuclear arming of American's European allies, notably Britain and France, should Russia accept the plan and its terms actually be converted into treaty form.

This section, which would also let Russia supply atomic weapons to its satellites, states:

"Each party undertakes not to transfer out of its control any nuclear weapons, or to accept transfer to it of such weapons, except where, under arrangements between transferor and transferee their use will be in conformity with paragraph 3."

The section referred to was that providing for use of weapons only in self-defense.

The 11 points of the Western plan, which is officially designated as a "working paper (proposals) for partial measures of disarmament," cover not only specific arms reduction and control measures but also the creation of inspection and control machinery under an "international control organization."

Another section says that the proposals constitute a single package and that "its provisions are inseparable."

Steel Price Hike Said To Be Ample

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) says a recent $6-a-ton steel price hike is substantially larger than the industry's increased labor costs.

Reviewing an inquiry by the Senate antitrust subcommittee, Kefauver said Wednesday the price increase first announced by U.S. Steel and then followed by other steel producers will cost buyers an additional 540 million dollars.

The price boost went into effect July 1, at the same time as new wage increases became effective under a labor contract.

Kefauver said U.S. Steel spokesmen in testimony over how much higher wages have increased costs with the company putting the difference at $3.25 a ton and the Steel Workers Union figuring it at $2.54 a ton.

"But whether one uses the steel company's estimate of that of the union," Kefauver said, "it is obvious that there is a substantial gap between the $6 price increase and the amount by which its wage costs were increased—the gap ranging from $2.75 to $3.50 per ton."

He said the subcommittee will investigate what he called "price leadership by U.S. Steel" in a series of hearings in October. After that, he said, the subcommittee will investigate prices in the farm machinery industry.

As for competition in the steel industry, Kefauver said, "the central fact is that when U.S. Steel raises its price, it does so with the almost certain knowledge, based on years of experience, that its so-called competitors will make the same increase."

New Latin Area Canal Is Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bonner (D-NC), chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, said today his group is going to make a special study of where a second canal can be built to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

The main reason for the study: the Panama Canal is expected to be crammed to capacity with ship traffic by around the year 1970.

Bonner said there are plans for a subcommittee to visit Nicaragua. But he did not rule out the possibility that any place in Central America from Colombia to Mexico might wind up a recommended site for a new canal.

References to Race Banned by Governor

COLUMBUS (AP)—All references to race as a qualification to employment in state government are to be removed under an executive order issued by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

The order, dated Aug. 8, was made public Wednesday. It directs all state agencies to review job descriptions for additional personnel and to eliminate all racial references.

'Hotfoot' Almost Legal in School

DAYTON (AP)—The Kettering school board almost made it legal to give Fairmont High School students a "hotfoot."

But a board member, caught in a typographical error in the clerk's minutes just in time.

The official minutes authorized a vending company to "provide a hot foot by vending machines as needed at the new Fairmont High School." The alert board member explained: "We intend to provide hot food."

20 County, City Teachers Take Annual TGA Tour

School Personnel Visits Industrial Plants, Hospital

A group of 20 teachers from the Washington C. H. and Fayette County school systems spent Thursday getting a better understanding of how Washington C. H. works.

It was the annual Teacher-Get-Acquainted Day tour sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Teachers convened at Washington High School at 9 a. m. and were due to keep moving until 3:30 p. m., visiting eight Washington C. H. industrial plants as well as the Ohio Water Service Co. and Fayette Memorial Hospital.

The group took time out for lunch at the Hotel Washington.

Chamber President Walter Morrow and Manager William Stoughton joined them on the tour. Both also gave brief talks at the high school in a morning session preceding the trip.

OTHER TALKS were given by W. A. Smith, superintendent of city schools; Good Hope Principal Harold Thomas, substituting for County Supt. W. J. Hilly, and Robert Terhune, president of the Washington C. H. Board of Education. Walter Rettig, chairman of the educational committee of the chamber, was master of ceremonies.

Industries on the schedule were the Brown-Brockmeyer Co., Cudahy Packing Co., Armbrust Concrete Products, Med-O-Pure Dairy, National Cash Register Co., A. M. Co. Drainage and Metal Products, Inc., Washington Mortuary Supply Co. and the Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

TEACHERS taking part were: Miami Trade School System—Mrs. Nola Hill, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Margaret Fredericks, Route 4; George Groh, Jr., Route 3; Sabina; Mrs. Hazel Garinger, near Washington C. H.; Miss Lida G. Wissler, 220 Sycamore St.; Mrs. Robert Hinchman, 908 Washington Ave.; Mrs. Dorothy McDonald, Route 2; and Robert Angus, 713 Oak Drive, City School System—Mrs. Mary Lou Hidy, 720 Sycamore St.; James Stroud, New Vienna; Mrs. Elizabeth Gray, Route 2; Sabina; Marvin J. Merritt, Comfort Lane; Miss Leona Young, New Vienna; George Blosser, 121 N. North St.; John O'Rourke, 318 N. North St.; Mrs. Jerry Grundies, 619 Warren Ave.; Mrs. Helen Reed, 619 Fairway Drive; Miss Katherine Hackett, 523 W. Temple St.; Grove Baber, 32 E. 15th Ave.; Columbus and Mrs. Rose Limes, 606 Highland Ave.

Civil Rights Bill

Thurmond did say his speech was designed to "call to the attention of the Senate and the people of the nation that this is a dangerous bill."

Thurmond yielded the floor to Knowland for the exchange and thus gained one of his few respites since he began talking at 8:54 p. m. Wednesday. Thurmond resumed reading documents in a monotone.

When Knowland arrived at 6:30 a. m. today for his brief interruption there were only three persons in the galleries and three members on the floor—Sens. Clark (D-Tx.), presiding, and Mansfield (D-Mont) and Hruska (R-Neb.).

Several other Southern senators had spoken during the long session that began at 10 a. m. Wednesday. Virtually to a man, they voiced their unyielding opposition to the civil rights bill which passed the House in compromise form.

All conceded they lacked the numerical strength to talk the legislation to death.

Under the bill, federal judges would be given limited powers to try without a jury persons charged with criminal contempt for violating such injunctions.

If the judge levied a penalty heavier than a $300 fine or 45 days in jail, the defendant could demand a new trial by jury. If convicted by a jury, a defendant in a criminal contempt case could be sentenced to as much as six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

Other sections of the bill provide for establishment of a bipartisan commission to study civil rights problems and for creation of a civil rights division in the Justice Department, headed by an assistant attorney general.

Radioactive Gnats Eyed by Scientists

INDIO, Calif. — Radioactive gnats are the latest development of the atomic age in the Coachella Valley of California.

The gnats have not been infected by an atom bomb. They're simply the controlled subjects of scientific tests being conducted to study mosquito abatement.

Thousands of gnats have been made radioactive by a diet of a specific type of phosphorus so their range can be determined after they are released. To recapture them, various stations are baited with rotten eggs, a real gnat delicacy.

Deaths, Funerals

MRS. HERBERT EVANS—Services were held in the Gerstner Funeral Home at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday for Mrs. Candice Evans, 60, wife of Herbert Evans, Waterloo Rd., who died Sunday. The Rev. Paul Elliott, pastor of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church, officiated, and burial was in Bloomingburg Cemetery.

Palbearers were Donald Lynch, Orland Hays, Otho Evans, Gerald Evans, Leonard Park and Donald King.

Name Speaker For All-Ohio Pork Picnic

Keith E. Myers of Grundy Center, Iowa, farmer, county agent, insurance salesman and presently executive secretary of the National Swine Growers Council, will be keynote speaker at the All-Ohio Pork Picnic Sept. 14 at the Fayette County Fairground.

Myers graduated from Iowa State College with an animal husbandry degree in 1939. He was employed as a county agricultural agent from 1939 to 1947. From 1947 to 1951 he worked for the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation in organization and insurance departments.

In 1951 he left the Iowa Farm Bureau for active farming. He specialized in the production and sale of feeder pigs in which activity he is still engaged.

He accepted the position of executive secretary of the National Swine Growers Council in June of this year. This is the first year the Council has had an executive secretary. It will be Myers' first appearance in Ohio.

City School Buses

and sixth graders from Albin Ave. west to High St. to Cherry Hill.

BUS NO. 2, on its first trip, will carry third and fourth graders to the Methodist Church and to the Rose Ave. school. On its second trip the bus will haul fifth and sixth graders to the high school and to the Christian Church. On its third trip, first and second graders will be carried to the Christian Church and Eastside.

Bus No. 2 will stop at 43 locations to pick up pupils.

EXCEPT for first graders beginning their education, all other students will report for a full day of classes next Wednesday. Except for the emergency classes, all elementary pupils are expected to report to their schools at 8:30 a. m. and high school students are to report at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday.

The emergency first grade class meeting at the Christian Church will begin at 8:57 a. m.; the emergency third grade class meeting in the Methodist Church will begin at 8:15; the emergency fourth grade meeting at Rose Ave. will begin at 8:10; the emergency fourth grade class meeting in the high school will begin at 8:17; and the emergency fifth and sixth grades meeting at the high school and at the Christian Church will begin at 8:37 a. m.

All first graders, accompanied by their parents, are expected to attend their first class at 1 p. m. Tuesday. No bus service will be provided Tuesday, but will begin Wednesday morning.

A TOTAL of 314 letters were mailed Wednesday to parents of students who will be transported to emergency classrooms. Each letter gives the pupil's name, his complete bus schedule and where he will pick up his bus.

The letter says: "You are probably well aware of the fact that certain classrooms in our schools are overcrowded. For the benefit of the students, we have had to assign some of them to schools outside of their district."

"We have just completed the assigning of pupils to the various buildings and emergency classrooms to equalize the classroom load. It is a tremendous task to try to do it equitably. You may or may not like our decisions, but we assure you that we tried our best to do the right thing. We appreciate your cooperation in the past and we hope you will still bear with us. We know that you will not make it harder for us by asking for a change in assignment."

"All first graders, accompanied by one of their parents, are to attend school on Tuesday, September 3, at 1 p. m. Birth certificates should be brought at that time and as soon as the teacher has verified the information, the certificates will be returned to the parent. Regular classes begin on Wednesday, Sept. 4, with an all-day session. The buses will be used on Wednesday, running their regular schedule. No buses will be running on Tuesday, Sept. 3."

"Be sure that your child gets on the right bus and right trip. Our two buses will be making three trips—the number of the bus and trip will be displayed on the windshield of the bus. Your child's bus and trip number are shown below. If you have moved since May 3, the information below may have to be changed."

Second U. S. Missile Test Hinted Ahead

COCOA BEACH, Fla. — Reports that a second missile may be shot from here this week circulated today in the wake of the test-firing of a projectile with a range of 1,500 miles.

The Defense Department would not comment on whether the firing was a reply to Russia's claim that Soviet scientists have tested successfully an intercontinental missile able to deliver a hydrogen bomb load anywhere in the world.

Neither would officials at Washington or at Patrick Air Force Base near here disclose whether the missile fired Wednesday was a Thor or a Jupiter. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles. The Jupiter was developed by the Army, the Thor by the Air Force.

The long, slender missile rose slowly at first, climbing almost vertically with a needle of flame streaming from its tail. It gathered speed and disappeared from the view of watching newsmen in 40 seconds. The roar of its passage could be heard for almost two minutes after it vanished into a gray cloud bank.

The 50-foot Jupiter has been fired successfully before. Unofficial reports say a Jupiter rose 700 miles into the atmosphere at a previous test and traveled 1,650 miles over the Atlantic at an average speed of 5,000 mph.

'North Coast' Of U. S. Seen As Boom Area

PHILADELPHIA — "An American version of the Mediterranean Sea."

That's the way a Western Reserve University professor and a transportation expert, Marvin J. Barlow, sees the Great Lakes with the coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The professor predicts that what he calls the north coast of the United States may become the nation's financial and managerial headquarters. This, he said, is because the volume of trade through a coastal frontier is determined largely by the wealth of its hinterland. He adds:

"The north coast's hinterland is the richest in the world. It includes a huge chunk of the United States beginning on the west with the Rocky Mountains, sweeping eastward into the funnel between the Great Lakes and the Ohio River, and reaching on to the Appalachian Mountains."

"It contains the major production centers of steel, automobiles, and machinery, plus important centers of soft-goods production—rubber in Akron, meat and processed foods in the Chicago area, clothing in Rochester and chemicals along the Eastern waterways. It takes in the wheat belt, the dairyland of Minnesota and Wisconsin, the corn belt (which produces the bulk of the country's meat and cereals) and most of the nation's coal and iron ore mines."

Board To Borrow

moved to issue the $645,000 in voted bonds. The board's attorneys have advised that these cannot be sold because of a Miami Trace School District bond case pending in the Ohio Supreme Court.

SUPERINTENDENT W. A. Smith reported to the board that a study was completed comparing the cost per student by the city school system and by the county school system. The report was based on the statistical and financial reports filed with the Ohio Department of Education for the 1956-57 school year, according to Smith.

Based on total expenditures, Smith said, the county system spent $313.76 per pupil and the city system spent $243.51 per pupil. Actual figures reported to State Department of Education reveal that the county spent $826,292 on its educational program, and the city system spent $521,839.

In obtaining the actual cost per pupil, Smith said, the average daily membership of each system must be considered. The county reported an average of 2,634 and the city's average was 2,143.

The actual difference, per pupil, amounts to $70.25 more in the county system than in the city system, according to Smith's report.

Based on the same statistics, the administrative cost of the county system, per pupil, was $17.51, while the city system spent $10.93 for the same service.

In the category of instructional cost per student, however, Smith said, the city system spent more per student than the county system. On the basis of the costs of books, instructional materials and teaching salaries, the city spent $179.11 per pupil, and the county spent $165.09.

All members of the board were in attendance. The next regular meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. Sept. 4.

Rome Seeks Merger with East Orthodox

LISLE, Ill. — Catholic scholars of Eastern and Western cultures assembled today to search for means of eventually uniting 200 million Eastern Orthodox Christians with Rome.

The four days of discussions and ceremonies at the Benedictine Abbey of St. Procopius in Lisle form the second Unionistic Congress conducted at the direction of Pope Pius XII.

At the first U. S. Congress in Lisle last summer the participants reported there was sufficient interest among both Catholic and Orthodox to warrant a continuance of the talks. All agreed years of exploration would be needed before they could hope to mend a breach that has existed for centuries.

The separation of Christians now known as Orthodox from those under the Holy See was a continuing movement extending over hundreds of years. It became final with a papal decree in 1054.

The Eastern schism grew out of the struggle between Rome and Constantinople and some of their leaders for dominance over the world in the early centuries after Christ.

Missouri Sets Up Road Speed Limits

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Missouri today joined the parade of states recently turning to fixed speed limits as a means of combating carnage on the highways. The limits which went into effect at midnight are:

Divided U.S. highways Day Night
Undivided U.S. highway 70 70
Other roads 65 60
In unposted towns 45 45

It is Missouri's first attempt to set legal speed limits. Until now, the state has relied on a law requiring drivers to keep with a "careful and prudent" speed.

6 Salem 'Witches' Finally Cleared

BOSTON — The state of Massachusetts has wiped from the books the convictions of six women unjustly accused of being witches 265 years ago.

Gov. Foster Furcolo signed a legislative resolution Wednesday night clearing Ann Pudeator, Bridget Bishop, Susanna Martin, Alice Parker, Margaret Scott and Milmot Reed.

All had been convicted in a colonial court and hanged during the 17th century witchcraft hysteria in Salem.

Ohio AFL, CIO New Ready For Merger

DAYTON — The Ohio Federation of Labor is heading today toward consolidation with the Ohio CIO, the final note of dissension was grudgingly silenced.

The dissenters, officials of the Ohio Building and Construction Trades Council, abandoned plans Wednesday for a floor fight against the merger at the Federation's convention here and accepted instead a "statement of principal" in backing their grievances.

The Building Trades Council had drawn up a resolution urging the National Building Trades Assn. to withdraw from the national AFL-CIO because of jurisdictional problems with former CIO industrial unions.

Rather than submit the resolution to the floor of the convention for approval, however, the Building Trades Council settled for a "statement of principal" urging full protection of the building trades unions in the merger.

John Breidenbach, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council, said he believes his group could have won convention approval of the resolution. He added that he did not oppose the statement because it "would have hurt our friends and even if we won we would really lose."

The AFL and CIO have already merged on the national level. The deadline for consolidating the two in Ohio is Dec. 5.

Full Review Pledged on Road Network

WASHINGTON — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) today pledged a full review early next year of progress on the new 1,000-mile national superhighway network, including the problem of toll roads.

The Bureau of Public Roads announced last week it had incorporated 2,102 miles of toll roads in 15 states into the network.

Some congressional opposition already has developed to this, although the bureau was authorized to take the step in the 1956 Highway Act, which set up the 41,000-mile system.

Gore, chairman of the Senate roads subcommittee and a principal author of the 1956 act, said the subcommittee would begin in January a thorough review of all problems in connection with the interstate system.

This would involve the question of toll roads and also revised cost estimates submitted by the states for their portions of the interstate system.

These estimates are expected to total several billion dollars higher than the 27 billion dollars Congress figured last year as the probable cost of the system.

U. S. Relaxes Trade Ties with Poland

WASHINGTON — The United States has given Communist Poland a new and favorable trade status, nearly equal to that of any of this nation's allies.

The Commerce Department Wednesday announced relaxed rules which will permit Poland to get such strategically valuable U. S. goods as industrial machinery, steel mill products, machine tools, electrical machinery and vehicles.

The loosening of export restrictions was promised last June when the two countries signed an agreement loaning Poland nearly $49 million, to be used to purchase U. S. agricultural products and mining machinery.

20 County, City Teachers Take Annual TGA Tour

School Personnel Visits Industrial Plants, Hospital

A group of 20 teachers from the Washington C. H. and Fayette County school systems spent Thursday getting a better understanding of how Washington C. H. works.

It was the annual Teacher-Get-Acquainted Day tour sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Teachers convened at Washington High School at 9 a. m. and were due to keep moving until 3:30 p. m., visiting eight Washington C. H. industrial plants as well as the Ohio Water Service Co. and Fayette Memorial Hospital.

The group took time out for lunch at the Hotel Washington.

Chamber President Walter Morrow and Manager William Stoughton joined them on the tour. Both also gave brief talks at the high school in a morning session preceding the trip.

OTHER TALKS were given by W. A. Smith, superintendent of city schools; Good Hope Principal Harold Thomas, substituting for County Supt. W. J. Hilly; and Robert Terhune, president of the Washington C. H. Board of Education. Walter Rettig, chairman of the educational committee of the chamber, was master of ceremonies.

Industries on the schedule were the Brown-Brookmeyer Co., Cudahy Packing Co., Armbrust Concrete Products, Med-O-Pure Dairy, National Cash Register Co., Armco Drainage and Metal Products, Inc., Washington Mortuary Supply Co. and the Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

TEACHERS taking part were: Miami Trace School System—Mrs. Nola Hill, Mr. Sterling; Mrs. Margaret Fredericks, Route 4; George Groh, Jr., Route 3; Sabina; Mrs. Hazel Gariger, near Washington C. H.; Miss Lida G. Wissler, 220 Sycamore St.; Mrs. Robert Hinchman, 908 Washington Ave.; Mrs. Dorothy McDonald, Route 2; and Robert Angus, 713 Oak Drive; City School System—Mrs. Mary Lou Hidy, 720 Sycamore St.; James Stroud, New Vienna; Mrs. Elizabeth Gray, Route 2; Sabina; Marvin J. Merritt, Comfort Lane, Miss Leona Young, New Vienna; Kaye Blosser, 121 N. North St.; John O'Rourke, 318 N. North St.; Mrs. Jerry Grundies, 619 Warren Ave.; Mrs. Helen Reed, 619 Fairway Drive; Miss Katherine Hackett, 523 W. Temple St.; Grove Baber, 323 E. 15th Ave.; Columbus and Mrs. Rose Limes, 606 Highland Ave.

Thurmond did say his speech was designed to "call to the attention of the Senate and the people of the nation that this is a dangerous bill."

Thurmond yielded the floor to Knowland for the exchange and thus gained one of his few respite since he began talking at 8:54 p. m. Wednesday. Thurmond resumed reading documents in a monotone.

When Knowland arrived at 6:30 a. m. today for his brief interruption there were only three persons in the galleries and three members on the floor—Sens. Clark (D-Pa.), presiding, and Mansfield (D-Mont) and Hruska (R-Neb).

Several other Southern senators had spoken during the long session that began at 10 a. m. Wednesday. Virtually to a man, they voiced their unyielding opposition to the civil rights bill which passed the House in compromise form.

All conceded they lacked the numerical strength to talk the legislation to death.

Under the bill, federal judges would be given limited powers to try without a jury persons charged with criminal contempt for violating such injunctions.

If the judge levied a penalty heavier than a $300 fine or 45 days in jail, the defendant could demand a new trial by jury. If convicted by a jury, a defendant in a criminal contempt case could be sentenced to as much as six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

Other sections of the bill provide for establishment of a bipartisan commission to study civil rights problems and for creation of a civil rights division in the Justice Department, headed by an assistant attorney general.

Radioactive Gnats Eyed by Scientists

INDIO, Calif. (U. S. —) Radioactive gnats are the latest development of the atomic age in the Coachella Valley of California.

The gnats have not been infected by an atom bomb. They're simply the controlled subjects of scientific tests being conducted to study mosquito abatement.

Thousands of gnats have been made radioactive by a diet of a specific type of phosphorus so their range can be determined after they are released. To recapture them, various stations are baited with rotten eggs, a real gnat delicacy.

Deaths, Funerals

MRS. HERBERT EVANS—Services were held in the Gerstner Funeral Home at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday for Mrs. Candice Evans, 60, wife of Herbert Evans, Waterloo Rd., who died Sunday. The Rev. Paul Elliott, pastor of the Bloomington Presbyterian Church, officiated, and burial was in Bloomington Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Donald Lynch, Orland Hays, Otho Evans, Gerald Evans, Leonard Park and Donald King.

Name Speaker For All-Ohio Pork Picnic

Keith E. Myers of Grundy Center, Iowa, farmer, county agent, insurance salesman and presently executive secretary of the National Swine Growers Council, will be keynote speaker at the All-Ohio Pork Picnic Sept. 14 at the Fayette County Fairground.

Myers graduated from Iowa State College with an animal husbandry degree in 1939. He was employed as a county agricultural agent from 1939 to 1947. From 1947 to 1951 he worked for the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation in organization and insurance departments.

In 1951 he left the Iowa Farm Bureau for active farming. He specialized in the production and sale of feeder pigs in which activity he is still engaged.

He accepted the position of executive secretary of the National Swine Growers Council in June of this year. This is the first year the Council has had an executive secretary. It will be Myers' first appearance in Ohio.

City School Buses

and sixth graders from Albin Ave. west to High St. to Cherry Hill.

BUS NO. 2, on its first trip, will carry third and fourth graders to the Methodist Church and to the Rose Ave. school. On its second trip the bus will haul fifth and sixth graders to the high school and to the Christian Church. On its third trip, first and second graders will be carried to the Christian Church and Eastside.

Bus No. 2 will stop at 43 locations to pick up pupils.

EXCEPT for first graders beginning their education, all other students will report for a full day of classes next Wednesday. Except for the emergency classes, all elementary pupils are expected to report to their schools at 8:50 a. m. and high school students are to report at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday.

The emergency first grade class meeting at the Christian Church will begin at 8:57 a. m.; the emergency third grade class meeting in the Methodist Church will begin at 8:15; the emergency fourth grade meeting at Rose Ave. will begin at 8:10; the emergency fourth grade class meeting in the high school will begin at 8:17; and the emergency fifth and sixth grades meeting at the high school and at the Christian Church will begin at 8:37 a. m.

All first graders, accompanied by their parents, are expected to attend their first class at 1 p. m. Tuesday. No bus service will be provided Tuesday, but will begin Wednesday morning.

A TOTAL of 314 letters were mailed Wednesday to parents of students who will be transported to emergency classrooms. Each letter gives the pupil's name, his complete bus schedule and where he will pick up his bus.

The letter says: "You are probably well aware of the fact that certain classrooms in our schools are overcrowded. For the benefit of the students, we have had to assign some of them to schools outside of their district."

"We have just completed the assigning of pupils to the various buildings and emergency classrooms to equalize the classroom load. It is a tremendous task to try to do it equitably. You may or may not like our decisions, but we assure you that we tried our best to do the right thing. We appreciate your cooperation in the past and we hope you will still bear with us. We know that you will not make it harder for us by asking for a change in assignment."

"All first graders, accompanied by one of their parents, are to attend school on Tuesday, September 3, at 1 p. m. Birth certificates should be brought at that time and as soon as the teacher has verified the information, the certificates will be returned to the parent. Regular classes begin on Wednesday, Sept. 4, with an all-day session. The buses will be used on Wednesday, running their regular schedule. No buses will be running on Tuesday, Sept. 3."

"Be sure that your child gets on the right bus and right trip. Our two buses will be making three trips—the number of the bus and trip will be displayed on the windshield of the bus. Your child's bus and trip number are shown below. If you have moved since May 3, the information below may have to be changed."

Second U. S. Missile Test Hinted Ahead

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (U. S. —) Reports that a second missile may be shot from here this week circulated today in the wake of the test-firing of a projectile with a range of 1,500 miles.

The Defense Department would not comment on whether the firing was a reply to Russia's claim that Soviet scientists have tested successfully an intercontinental missile able to deliver a hydrogen bomb load anywhere in the world.

Neither would officials at Washington or at Patrick Air Force Base near here disclose whether the missile fired Wednesday was a Thor or a Jupiter. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles. The Jupiter was developed by the Army, the Thor by the Air Force.

The long, slender missile rose slowly at first, climbing almost vertically with a needle of flame streaming from its tail. It gathered speed and disappeared from the view of watching newsmen in 40 seconds. The roar of its passage could be heard for almost two minutes after it vanished into a gray cloud bank.

The 50-foot Jupiter has been fired successfully before. Unofficial reports say a Jupiter rose 700 miles into the atmosphere at a previous test and traveled 1,650 miles over the Atlantic in an average speed of 5,000 mph.

'North Coast' Of U. S. Seen As Boom Area

PHILADELPHIA (U. S. —) "An American version of the Mediterranean Sea."

That's the way a Western Reserve University professor and a transportation expert, Marvin J. Barlow, sees the Great Lakes with the coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The professor predicts that what he calls the new north coast of the United States may become the nation's financial and managerial headquarters. This, he said, is because the volume of trade through a coastal frontier is determined largely by the wealth of its hinterland. He adds:

"The north coast's hinterland is the richest in the world. It includes a huge chunk of the United States beginning on the west with the Rocky Mountains, sweeping eastward into the funnel between the Great Lakes and the Ohio River, and reaching on to the Appalachian Mountains."

"It contains the major production centers of steel, automobiles, and machinery, plus important centers of soft-good production—rubber in Akron, meat and processed foods in the Chicago area, clothing in Rochester and chemicals along the Eastern waterways. It takes in the wheat belt, the dairyland of Minnesota and Wisconsin, the corn belt (which produces the bulk of the country's meat and cereals) and most of the nation's coal and iron ore mines."

Board To Borrow

moved to issue the $645,000 in voted bonds. The board's attorneys have advised that these cannot be sold because of a Miami Trace School District bond case pending in the Ohio Supreme Court.

SUPERINTENDENT W. A. Smith reported to the board that a study was completed comparing the cost per student by the city school system and by the county school system. The report was based on the statistical and financial reports filed with the Ohio Department of Education for the 1956-57 school year, according to Smith.

Based on total expenditures, Smith said, the county system spent $313.76 per pupil and the city system spent $243.51 per pupil. Actual figures reported to State Department of Education reveal that the county spent $826-392 on its educational program, and the city system spent $521,859.

In obtaining the actual cost per pupil, Smith said, the average daily membership of each system must be considered. The county reported an average of 2,634 and the city's average was 2,143.

The actual difference, per pupil, amounts to $70.25 more in the county system than in the city system, according to Smith's report.

Based on the same statistics, the administrative cost of the county system, per pupil, was $17-51, while the city system spent $10-93 for the same service.

In the category of instructional cost per student, however, Smith said, the city system spent more per student than the county system. On the basis of the costs of books, instructional materials and teaching salaries, the city spent $179.11 per pupil, and the county spent $165.09.

All members of the board were in attendance. The next regular meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. Sept. 4.

Rome Seeks Merger with East Orthodox

LISLE, Ill. (U. S. —) Catholic scholars of Eastern and Western cultures assembled today to search for means of eventually uniting 200 million Eastern Orthodox Christians with Rome.

The four days of discussions and ceremonies at the Benedictine Abbey of St. Procopius in Lisle form the second Unitarian Congress conducted at the direction of Pope Pius XII.

At the first U. S. Congress in Lisle last summer the participants reported there was sufficient interest among both Catholic and Orthodox to warrant a continuance of the talks. All agreed years of exploration would be needed before they could hope to mend a breach that has existed for centuries.

The separation of Christians now known as Orthodox from those under the Holy See was a continuing movement extending over hundreds of years. It became final with a papal decree in 1054.

The Eastern schism grew out of the struggle between Rome and Constantinople and some of their leaders for dominance over the world in the early centuries after Christ.

Missouri Sets Up Road Speed Limits

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (U. S. —) Missouri today joined the parade of states recently turning to fixed speed limits as a mean of combating carnage on the highways. The limits which went into effect at midnight are:

	Day	Night
Divided U.S. highways	70	70
Undivided U.S. highway	70	65
Other roads	65	60
In unposted towns	45	45

It is Missouri's first attempt to set legal speed limits. Until now, the state has relied on a law requiring drivers to keep with a "careful and prudent" speed.

6 Salem 'Witches' Finally Cleared

BOSTON (U. S. —) The state of Massachusetts has wiped from the books the convictions of six women unjustly accused of being witches 265 years ago.

Gov. Foster Furcolo signed a legislative resolution Wednesday night clearing Ann Pudeator, Bridget Bishop, Susanne Martin, Alice Parker, Margaret Scott and Milmoit Reed.

All had been convicted in a colonial court and hanged during the 17th century witchcraft hysteria in Salem.

Ohio AFL, CIO New Ready For Merger

DAYTON (U. S. —) The Ohio Federation of Labor is heading today toward consolidation with the Ohio CIO, the final note of dissonance was grudgingly silenced.

The dissenters, officials of the Ohio Building and Construction Trades Council, abandoned plans Wednesday for a floor fight against the merger at the Federation's convention here and accepted instead a "statement of principal" in backing their grievances.

The Building Trades Council had drawn up a resolution urging the National Building Trades Assn. to withdraw from the national AFL-CIO because of jurisdictional problems with former CIO industrial unions.

Rather than submit, the resolution to the floor of the convention for approval, however, the Building Trades Council settled for a "statement of principal" urging full protection of the building trades unions in the merger.

John Breidenbach, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council, said he believes his group could have won convention approval of the resolution. He added that he did not oppose the statement because it "would have hurt our friends and even if we won we would really lose."

The AFL and CIO have already merged on the national level. The deadline for consolidating the two in Ohio is Dec. 5.

Full Review Pledged on Road Network

WASHINGTON (U. S. —) Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) today pledged a full review early next year of progress on the new 1,000-mile national superhighway network, including the problem of toll roads.

The Bureau of Public Roads announced last week it had incorporated 2,102 miles of toll roads in 15 states into the network.

Some congressional opposition already has developed to this, although the bureau was authorized to take the step in the 1956 Highway Act, which set up the 41,000-mile system.

Gore, chairman of the Senate roads subcommittee and a principal author of the 1956 act, said the subcommittee would begin in January a thorough review of all problems in connection with the interstate system.

This would involve the question of toll roads and also revised cost estimates submitted by the states for their portions of the interstate system.

These estimates are expected to total several billion dollars higher than the 27 billion dollars Congress figured last year as the probable cost of the system.

U. S. Relaxes Trade Ties with Poland

WASHINGTON (U. S. —) The United States has given Communist Poland a new and favorable trade status, nearly equal to that of any of this nation's allies.

The Commerce Department Wednesday announced relaxed rules which will permit Poland to get such strategically valuable U. S. goods as industrial machinery, steel mill products, machine tools, electrical machinery and vehicles.

The loosening of export restrictions was promised last June when the two countries signed an agreement loaning Poland nearly $49 million, to be used to purchase U. S. agricultural products and mining machinery.

5 More GIs Face Court-Martial

FT. CARSON, Colo. (U. S. —) An Army captain and five more enlisted men, all former instructors, were under charges today stemming from alleged mistreatment of trainees.

Three enlisted men were served with similar charges earlier.

The enlisted men were accused of striking trainees with fists and belts, calling men out for physical exercise between 10 p. m. and 1 a. m., forcing them to wear boots tied around their necks and withholding mail as punishment for not buying unit stationery.

The captain, John V. Webb, 30, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, was charged with failure to obey regulations and directives.

Soil Stewardship Vital Here and Elsewhere

It is a good thing for Fayette County that it has a great many farmers who are definitely interested in conservation practices; men who are looking into the future.

In those localities where little attention is being paid, many have come to learn through sad experience that we can have good soil for growing crops only by planning for protection of the land against the year-by-year strain of crop production as well as storm or other damage.

The soil bank idea, perhaps aside from a few shortcomings, is something in which most thinking people believe, whether they have vast lands or small farms.

Most farmers have learned to call for help in planning and in the practice of soil conservation.

This year the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Soil Conservation Districts, and some church groups choose to call it —Soil Stewardship.

Almost too late we have seen that the future of a nation and a people depends upon the proper use of natural resources generally and particularly on six inches of topsoil. Thanks to soil conservation, Ohio has less and less erosion. We are building the land and with it the people. The battle is never won. Man must keep fighting, for the campaign is one he cannot afford to lose. Soil stewardship is more than a responsibility. It is a command.

The rapid increase in population in our nation is causing more and more people to give serious thought to the fact that there may come a time when, as some have predicted, even in fertile localities like Fayette County, the need for the food we grow, may be greater than we realize today.

Fat Man Tells Tale of Woe

NEW YORK (AP)—There were only two men at the bar, one very fat and one quite slender, and they were strangers.

However, the fat man introduced himself, bought a couple of rounds, and soon he and the slender man were having as much fun as two microbes in a bowl of pudding.

They were, that is, until the slender man took the fat man by the lapels and said:

"You know, Al, I know it's none of my business, and I hate to poke my nose in another man's life, but why don't you do something about all that extra weight you're carrying? Don't you realize that packing all that fat around will bring you to an early grave?"

The fat man's booming laugh died. A frown spread over his face as he reached into his pocket and handed his new friend a letter addressed "To whom it may concern."

The slender man, a bit bewildered, opened the letter and read as follows:

"Dear friend, "Until now you have been a nice guy. But your last remark clearly shows you are one of those millions of unhappy people who try to reform their fellow man and make them a prisoner of their own particular brand of misery."

"You think that if I looked as badly fed as you do that I'd be happier. Please listen to my story:

"At birth I weighed 15½ pounds.

"I come from a fat family. My father (God rest his soul!) weighed 285 pounds when he died at 81 after outliving three bean-pole-shaped wives, each of whom assured him he was digging his grave with his teeth.

"As a boy I was too fat to fight, so, as a result, I never got my teeth knocked out and today I have all my own chompers. In college I was too fat to play football, so I never got any broken bones.

"After college I weighed 250 pounds and was so fat that no woman wanted to marry me. This enabled me to concentrate on my job—selling food sauces—and by the time I was 35 I had saved $50,000 in cash.

"Then my dear uncle, who weighed 315 pounds, died at 79 (God rest his soul!) and left me another $50,000. That gave me $100,000 and I put it all into a firm that manufactured a new antifat pill. I was named president and the company prospered from the start.

"...But the more money we made, the more I ate, so that my weight climbed to 312 pounds. Other members of the firm suggested I either go on a diet or sell out to them.

"I wouldn't change my eating habits, so I sold out—for $3 million. That was five years ago. By careful investment I doubled my nestegg. A few months ago I put my $6 million in municipal bonds. They give me an income of $240,000 a year, tax free.

"I now eat from four to seven meals a day, depending on how I feel, and I weigh 345 pounds and feel fine. I carry $5,000 in my wallet at all times, just to be sure I won't ever have to go hungry. I sleep until noon every day, and can go anywhere or do anything I please.

"I have 40 pairs of shoes, 50 suits, 150 shirts and 300 neckties.

"Perhaps, of course, I have missed something in life by remaining fat. On the other hand I have a 10-room air conditioned penthouse on Park Avenue, three motor cars and five servants. If I want a date, all I have to do is pick up the phone and call anyone of a dozen beautiful chorus girls. They may think I am a bit chubby, but they like my chubby bankroll.

"Well, friend, that brings my story up to date. And now, skinny, I am quite willing to hear your tale of joy. Please go right ahead and tell me how much more you've gotten out of life by counting your calories."

The slender man, his face red, folded up the letter, handed it back to the fat man, and silently walked out of the bar.

The Era of Nationalism

What is happening in Syria is a result of the aroused nationalism in Arabic countries which Soviet Russia did not foment but of which the Kremlin has taken full advantage.

Nationalism has triumphed universally. United States being the sole exception. Thus empires fall, countries are partitioned, colonies rise to independence, the earth is becoming more and more fragmented.

Already nationalism has destroyed the British, French and Dutch empires. Soviet Russia is stimulating nationalism while developing an empire, with what results we shall in due course see.

The United States, which favors internationalism suicidally, is so deeply committed to the cost in wealth and life of a permanent military establishment, that it will have to revert to nationalism to maintain the morale of its people. Flags will fly again on the Fourth of July.

Prof. Hans J. Morgenthau defines the concept of nationalism as follows:

"The idea of nationalism, both in its historic origins and in the political functions it has performed, is intimately connected with the idea of freedom and shares the latter's ambiguity. Nationalism as a political phenomenon must be understood as the aspiration for two freedoms, one collective, the other individual: the freedom of a nation from domination by another nation and the freedom of the individual to join the nation of his choice."

This is a correct view of the subject, the danger, however, always being that those countries which become most nationalistic tend, in time, to conquer, repress, and subordinate their neighbors and set off on the route of imperialism.

Thus, although it is not so many years since Dr. Sun Yat-Sen described China as a semi-colony, Red China, once it regarded itself as established, conquered Tibet and an area of Burma and has been pressing up on all its neighbors.

Tito has not followed this pattern, probably out of fear of Soviet Russia but within the Communist world, Titoism means not only nationalistic communism but also the possibility of the danger of a grouping of anti-Russian communist countries that might, in time, form a league or an association of states.

The monarchy was never really nationalistic. After all, kings and queens belonged to families not to nations and before most of them lost their thrones in Europe, they were cousins of one sort or another.

The British royal family, which has survived all the revolutionary changes in Europe, now called the House of Windsor, descends from the German Electress, Sophie of Hanover who was herself a Stuart.

The two predecessor families of the House of Windsor were the House of Hanover and the House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The Russian Royal family was a mostly German and Danish. Nicholas II of Russia and George V of Great Britain resembled each other closely.

In a word, nationalism developed outside the royal households and in due course, upset monarchies and established what have come to be called democracies. Napoleon destroyed some 200 dynastic sovereignties, because when these principalities and dukedoms could neither protect their boundaries nor maintain internal order, they ceased to be of any value.

Whenever that happened, a nation appeared, which either stood on its own feet because it could or which was absorbed by some other nation because it could not stand on its own feet.

This same process is going on in the areas which were once either parts or protectorates of European empires. The battle for Oman looked picturesque but really it was a reflex of Saudi Arabian nationalism, the stimulating effects of Egyptian nationalism, the stirring of Islam by Russian revolutionary tactics, the desire to find increasing national liberty by economic development on a national scale.

The Syrian people are not intensely nationalistic. But Syria, as it has before in history, became dependent upon Egypt which now has a working alliance with Soviet Russia after having freed itself from the overlordship of Great Britain.

Syria has no strength to defend its boundaries. Therefore it moves as Egypt moves. The Syrian government not only cannot defend its own borders but cannot maintain order within those borders. So, it has been forced to capitulate to Russian imperialism as a response to internal challenges.

As Prof. Morgenthau says: "...Free nations had only one enemy, and he was common to all of them: the dynastic oppressor of their freedom, individual and collective."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"THE WORDS AMERICA lives by are important," points out historian Bruce Catton, "but sometimes it can be important to look at the words America did not live by."

He cites as an example the case of Zebulon Pike. In 1806, Pike discovered the spectacular mountain that bears his name, but couldn't scale it. As he moved on into New Mexico, he declared, "Yonder peak will never be scaled by mortal man."

Today, of course, a fine motor road leads to the very top of Pike's Peak, and thousands ascend it annually. "We live in America," concluded Bruce Catton, "by doing things our countrymen before us considered impossible."

An advertising copy writer on Madison avenue suddenly threw up a $50,000-a-year job and accepted the post of school teacher in his native Vermont village.

"I quit," he explained, "when they wanted me to write stuff about a new hair tonic I wouldn't say about Abraham Lincoln!"

You're Telling Me

Paris Dress designer Christian Dior has decreed that women must be waistless in daytime, daring at night. You can achieve this fashion without changing clothes if you have a couple of belts.

Dior's evening wear seems to embody two main features. Off the shoulder and out of pocket.

It all boils down to this—clothes make the man, for plenty.

There seems to be some question as to whether President Eisenhower is a millionaire. Well, his income wasn't in that class. Generally speaking, but he cleaned up in author ways.

What can you do with a million dollars that you can't do with five hundred thousand? Except maybe do it twice.

Money isn't everything. Anyone with money will tell you that.

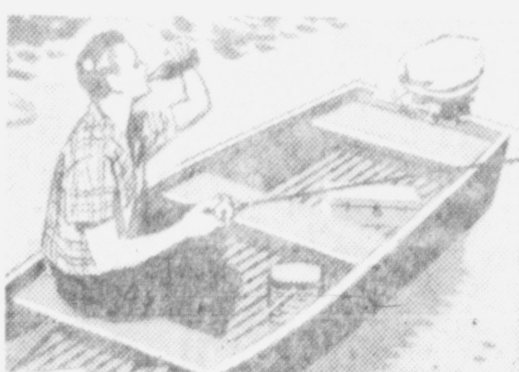

Health is important right along with money. Notice how important the people are who have a healthy bankroll.

Nudists' Request Denied by Chiefs

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The Marin County Board of Supervisors has eyed a request for a nudist beach on the county's shoreline and reached a decision.

Stan Sohler, past president of the American Sunbathing Assn., of May's Landing, N. J., had asked the county to set aside a secluded beach where bathing in the nude be optional.

"Designation of such a beach would create a parking problem for spectators as well as a patroling problem for the sheriff," said supervisor William Fusselman.

And so, the board turned down the request.

Fleas Shake DDT

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Recent warm, humid weather brought another discomfort—fleas.

Teams A&M College experts advised use of malathion dust or spray. The tough Waco flea have built up an immunity to once effective DDT.

Soil Stewardship Vital Here and Elsewhere

It is a good thing for Fayette County that it has a great many farmers who are definitely interested in conservation practices; men who are looking into the future.

In those localities where little attention is being paid, many have come to learn through sad experience that we can have good soil for growing crops only by planning for protection of the land against the year-by-year strain of crop production as well as storm or other damage.

The soil bank idea, perhaps aside from a few shortcomings, is something in which most thinking people believe whether they have vast lands or small farms.

Most farmers have learned to call for help in planning and in the practice of soil conservation.

This year the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Soil Conservation Districts, and some church groups choose to call it — Soil Stewardship.

Almost too late we have seen that the future of a nation and a people depends upon the proper use of natural resources generally and particularly on six inches of topsoil. Thanks to soil conservation, Ohio has less and less erosion. We are building the land and with it the people. The battle is never won. Man must keep fighting, for the campaign is one he cannot afford to lose. Soil stewardship is more than a responsibility. It is a command.

The rapid increase in population in our nation is causing more and more people to give serious thought to the fact that there may come a time when, as some have predicted, even in fertile localities like Fayette County, the need for the food we grow, may be greater than we realize today.

Fat Man Tells Tale of Woe

NEW YORK (AP)—There were only two men at the bar, one very fat and one quite slender, and they were strangers.

However, the fat man introduced himself, bought a couple of rounds, and soon he and the slender man were having as much fun as two microbes in a bowl of pudding.

They were, that is, until the slender man took the fat man by the lapels and said:

"You know, Al, I know it's none of my business, and I hate to poke my nose in another man's life, but why don't you do something about all that extra weight you're carrying? Don't you realize that packing all that fat around will bring you to an early grave?"

The fat man's booming laugh died. A frown spread over his face as he reached into his pocket and handed his new friend a letter addressed "To whom it may concern."

The slender man, a bit bewildered, opened the letter and read as follows:

"Dear friend,

"Until now you have been a nice guy. But your last remark clearly shows you are one of those millions of unhappy people who try to reform their fellow man and make them a prisoner of their own particular brand of misery.

"You think that if I looked as badly fed as you do that I'd be happier. Please listen to my story:

"At birth I weighed 15½ pounds.

"I come from a fat family. My father (God rest his soul!) weighed 285 pounds when he died at 81 after outliving three bean-pole-shaped wives, each of whom assured him he was digging his grave with his teeth.

"As a boy I was too fat to fight, so, as a result, I never got my teeth knocked out and today I have all my own chompers. In college I was too fat to play football, so I never got any broken bones.

"After college I weighed 250 pounds and was so fat that no woman wanted to marry me. This enabled me to concentrate on my job—selling food sauces—and by the time I was 35 I had saved $50,000 in cash.

"Then my dear uncle, who weighed 315 pounds, died at 79 (God rest his soul!) and left me another $50,000. That gave me $100,000 and I put it all into a firm that manufactured a new antifat pill. I was named president and the company prospered from the start.

"But the more money we made, the more I ate, so that my weight climbed to 312 pounds. Other members of the firm suggested I either go on a diet or sell out to them.

"I wouldn't change my eating habits, so I sold out—for $3 million. That was five years ago. By careful investment I doubled my nestegg. A few months ago I put my $6 million in municipal bonds. They give me an income of $240,000 a year, tax free.

"I now eat from four to seven meals a day, depending on how I feel, and I weigh 345 pounds and feel fine. I carry $5,000 in my wallet at all times, just to be sure I won't ever have to go hungry. I sleep until noon every day, and can go anywhere or do anything I please.

"I have 40 pairs of shoes, 50 suits, 150 shirts and 300 neckties.

"Perhaps, of course, I have missed something in life by remaining fat. On the other hand I have a 10-room air conditioned penthouse on Park Avenue, three motor cars and five servants. If I want a date, all I have to do is pick up the phone and call anyone of a dozen beautiful chorus girls. They may think I am a bit chubby, but they like my chubby bankroll.

"Well, friend, that brings my story up to date. And now, skinny, I am quite willing to hear your tale of joy. Please go right ahead and tell me how much more you've gotten out of life by counting your calories."

The slender man, his face red, folded up the letter, handed it back to the fat man, and silently walked out of the bar.

The Era of Nationalism

What is happening in Syria is a result of the aroused nationalism in Arabic countries which Soviet Russia did not foment but of which the Kremlin has taken full advantage.

Nationalism has triumphed universally. United States being the sole exception. Thus empires fall, countries are partitioned, colonies rise to independence, the earth is becoming more and more fragmented.

Already nationalism has destroyed the British, French and Dutch empires. Soviet Russia is stimulating nationalism while developing an empire, with what results we shall in due course see.

The United States, which favors internationalism suicidally, is so deeply committed to the cost in wealth and life of a permanent military establishment, that it will have to revert to nationalism to maintain the morale of its people. Flags will fly again on the Fourth of July.

Prof. Hans J. Morgenthau defines the concept of nationalism as follows:

"The idea of nationalism, both in its historic origins and in the political functions it has performed, is intimately connected with the idea of freedom and shares the latter's ambiguity. Nationalism as a political phenomenon must be understood as the aspiration for two freedoms, one collective, the other individual: the freedom of a nation from domination by another nation and the freedom of the individual to join the nation of his choice."

This is a correct view of the subject, the danger, however, always being that those countries which become most nationalistic tend, in time, to conquer, oppress, and subordinate their neighbors and set off on the route of imperialism.

Thus, although it is not so many years since Dr. Sun Yat-Sen described China as a semi-colony, Red China, once it regarded itself as established, conquered Tibet and an area of Burma and has been pressing upon all its neighbors.

Titto has not followed this pattern, probably out of fear of Soviet Russia but within the Communist world, Tittoism means not only nationalistic communism but also the possibility of the danger of a grouping of anti-Russian communist countries that might, in time, form a league or an association of states.

The monarchy was never really nationalistic. After all, kings and queens belonged to families not to nations and before most of them lost their thrones in Europe, they were cousins of one sort or another.

The British royal family, which has survived all the revolutionary changes in Europe, now called the House of Windsor, descends from the German Electress, Sophie of Hanover who was herself a Stuart.

The two predecessor families of the House of Windsor were the House of Hanover and the House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The Russian Royal family was mostly German and Danish. Nicholas II of Russia and George V of Great Britain resembled each other closely.

In a word, nationalism developed outside the royal households and in due course, upset monarchies and established what have come to be called democracies. Napoleon destroyed some 200 dynastic sovereignties, because when these principalities and dukedoms could neither protect their boundaries nor maintain internal order, they ceased to be of any value.

Whenever that happened, a nation appeared, which either stood on its own feet because it could or which was absorbed by some other nation because it could not stand on its own feet.

This same process is going on in the areas which were once either parts or protectorates of European empires. The battle for Oman looked picturesque but really it was a reflex of Saudi Arabian nationalism, the stimulating effects of Egyptian nationalism, the stirring of Islam by Russian revolutionary tactics, the desire to find increasing national liberty by economic development on a national scale.

The Syrian people are not intensely nationalistic. But Syria, as it has before in history, became dependent upon Egypt which now has a working alliance with Soviet Russia after having freed itself from the overlordship of Great Britain.

Syria has no strength to defend its boundaries. Therefore it moves as Egypt moves. The Syrian government not only cannot defend its own borders but cannot maintain order within those borders. So, it has been forced to capitulate to Russian imperialism as a response to internal challenges.

As Prof. Morgenthau says:

"...Free nations had only one enemy, and he was common to all of them: the dynastic oppressor of their freedom, individual and collective."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"THE WORDS AMERICA lives by are important," points out historian Bruce Catton, "but sometimes it can be important to look at the words America did not live by."

He cites as an example the case of Zebulon Pike. In 1806, Pike discovered the spectacular mountain that bears his name, but couldn't scale it. As he moved on into New Mexico, he declared, "Yonder peak will never be scaled by mortal man."

Today, of course, a fine motor road leads to the very top of Pike's Peak, and thousands ascend it annually. "We live in America," concluded Bruce Catton, "by doing things our countrymen before us considered impossible."

An advertising copy writer on Madison avenue suddenly threw up a $50,000-a-year job and accepted the post of school teacher in his native Vermont village.

"I quit," he explained, "when they wanted me to write stuff about a new hair tonic I wouldn't say about Abraham Lincoln!"

Paris Dress designer Christian Dior has decreed that women must be waistless in daytime, daring at night. You can achieve this fashion without changing clothes if you have a couple of belts.

Dior's evening wear seems to embody two main features. Off the shoulder and out of pocket.

It all boils down to this—clothes make the man, for plenty.

There seems to be some question as to whether President Eisenhower is a millionaire. Well, his income wasn't in that class. Generally speaking, but he cleaned up in author ways.

What can you do with a million dollars that you can't do with five hundred thousand? Except maybe do it twice.

Money isn't everything. Anyone with money will tell you that.

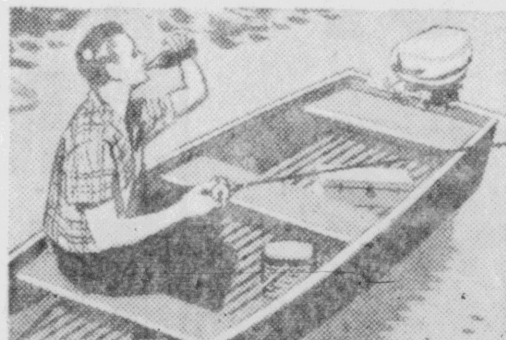

Health is important right along with money. Notice how important the people are who have a healthy bankroll.

Nudists' Request Denied by Chiefs

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The Marin County Board of Supervisors has eyed a request for a nudist beach on the county's shoreline and reached a decision.

Stan Sohier, past president of the American Sunbathing Assn., of May's Landing, N. J., had asked the county to set aside a secluded beach where bathing in the nude be optional.

"Designation of such a beach would create a parking problem for spectators as well as a patroling problem for the sheriff," said supervisor William Fusselman.

And so, the board turned down the request.

U. S. Business Confident of Long Pull ahead

High Hopes Held Fall To Bring New Upswing in Trade

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Business coast along at a high level today with confidence for the long pull still ahead.

As they take off in the Labor Day weekend that traditionally marks the end of the summer siesta, businessmen also have hopes—if a little less confidence maybe—that the fall season will see industry and trade starting upgrade again.

They base this largely on the record high personal incomes and consumer spending that after all are their biggest props. These have continued unaffected by the summer slowdown in industrial output.

Some are wondering if the announcement of the Russian intercontinental missile may change the direction of defense spending in this country. In recent weeks the government has ordered a cut-back in the rate, trying to hold the federal debt within its legal limit. A change in the arms race could affect many industries.

Prices and wages continue to rise and probably will keep on doing so after Labor Day. It's a momentum that dies down slowly —on the contrary it tends to feed on itself.

For many factory workers higher wage rates are being offset by the drop in hours worked or by the decline in factory jobs.

Hopes for more jobs after Labor Day are built around the slowly rising steel output rate from its July low, on hopes for increased auto production after the upcoming slowdown for model changeovers, and the perhaps wistful hopes of makers of appliances that the consumers will flock back to the stores this fall.

At summer's end (for business purposes) the Department of Commerce notes that "business activity has shown little change since midyear, apart from developments of a seasonal nature." It cites sustained high levels of employment and volume of total output, together with continuing gradual rises in prices and incomes.

The Labor Day period will test in particular three recent trends that businessmen have been watching closely: inventory build-up, a drop in new orders, and the slightly longer time customers take to pay their bills.

The Commerce Departments latest figures on manufacturers' new orders are for June, when they
by about four billion dollars since January, but most of that was in defense aircraft. And the Russians have added a new uncertainty to that trend.

Inventories haven't risen enough this summer to prove troublesome to most companies, but the trend is being watched.

Two Vacancies Remain On Miami Trace Faculty

A list of 107 regular teachers and four-part-time instructors who will make up the Miami Trace District faculty for the 1957-58 term was announced Wednesday by County
Superintendent W. J. Hilly.

Two vacancies are yet to be filled—a coach-teacher for Wayne
High School at Good Hope and a shop instructor for Bloomingburg.
A candidate for the Wayne position is under consideration and his decision on acceptance of the job is expected within a day or two.

W. W. Boyer is executive head of the Miami Trace District where pupils will report for a morning orientation session Tuesday and return for their first full day of school on Wednesday.

IN ADDITION to the regular teaching staff, Dr. G. E. Yaple, of Wilmington College, serves as a part-time supervisor of instruction.
Including Miss Jean M. Everhart,
secretary to the county board and county superintendent, list of teachers and administrators totals 114.
Others in the group employed on a part-time basis are Mrs. Frances

Two Vacancies Remain On Miami Trace Faculty

A list of 107 regular teachers and four-part-time instructors who will make up the Miami Trace District
faculty for the 1957-58 term was announced Wednesday by County
Superintendent W. J. Hilly.

Two vacancies are yet to be filled—a coach-teacher for Wayne
High School at Good Hope and a
shop instructor for Bloomingburg.
A candidate for the Wayne position is under consideration and
his decision on acceptance of the job is expected within a day or two.

W. W. Boyer is executive head of the Miami Trace District where pupils will report for a morning
orientation session Tuesday and return for their first full day of school on Wednesday.

IN ADDITION to the regular teaching staff, Dr. G. E. Yapple, of Wilmington College, serves as a part-time supervisor of instruction.
Including Miss Jean M. Everhart,
secretary to the county board and
county superintendent, list of teachers and administrators totals 114.

two occasions.

Youths Complete Job Of Ferrying Big Boat

MADISON, Ind. (AP)—Clifford
Crane and Ronald Foster, two 17-year-old Pittsburgh high school seniors, Wednesday completed a 560-mile trip down the Ohio River in a 40-ton floating boat garage.
The youths were commissioned by Ben Selig, Indiana businessman, to pilot the 55-by-26-foot, U-shaped boathouse from Pittsburgh to Selig's summer home near here.

WHS Band Holds Daily Practice

Marching rehearsals for the Washington C. H. High School band are being held at 10 a. m. daily this week at the Gardner Park practice field.

Elementary marching has been the order of the day so far, but Robert Neumann, bandmaster, said he expects to start the band on some special formation work later.

An evening music practice was held Wednesday and another is scheduled for Thursday. Neumann said practices will be held each night after school begins.

Mrs. Samuel Douds gave a report on the dance at City Park Friday night, this one sponsored by the Does. She thanked those who assisted. Mrs. Charles Fultz, secretary, read a communication from the School for Mentally Retarded
Children which will begin classes in September and the organization voted to contribute to the project.

Mrs. James read a song presented at the Does National Convention which she attended in Idaho Falls, Idaho, in June. After the coin march, the meeting closed in the usual ritualistic form.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Present indications are that the two deep test wells drilled in Fayette County by Kewanee Oil Co. of Oklahoma may end attempts to find oil and gas in paying quantities, in this immediate area unless of course, one or both of these commodities really was found in one or both holes. And unless some other company might sink wildcat wells somewhere in the 425,000 acres under lease in and near Fayette County.

First efforts to locate oil and gas in the county took place 71 years ago, when a well was sunk to a little over 1,800 feet on what was then the Coffman property, on the east side of Sycamore St., at a point 200 feet north of the B & O Railroad tracks.

Some oil and gas were found, but not in paying quantities, although gas in small quantities seeped from the well for many years.

Then 18 years later, in 1904, two wells were drilled near the former Washington Ice Co. plant. The first one back of the plant was drilled to 1,991 feet, and the second, on the Lizzie McCourt property 100 feet to the west, was sunk to 1,786 feet, and small quantities of oil and gas were found.

The same year a third well was drilled to 1,980 feet near Paint Creek at the end of "Lost Bridge" Rd. Traces of oil were found there.

In the first well at the ice plant the oil-bearing Trenton sand was found at 1,775 feet, and oil from the well flowed down Paint Creek, covering it for 10 miles.

About the same time wells were drilled on the Haines farm, 1½ miles northeast of Buena Vista, and another on the Coffey land where Route 62 crosses Rattlesnake Creek. Traces of oil were found in both wells.

Both were drilled to 1,800 feet or more, plugged and abandoned.

Some 45 years ago another well was sunk on the Hegler land, Chillicothe Rd., and gas and a little oil were found. The well was over 1,800 feet deep.

Then some 25 or 30 years ago a well was drilled to about 1,800 feet on the Ford land, west of Plymouth, but no gas or oil found.

The present two test holes, the first of which was 4,704 feet deep and the second 3,494 feet brings to 10 the total number of wells sunk within the county in the probe for "black gold" and gas.

I am still hopeful that Kewanee will make further tests in this part of Ohio later on, and that the long search for oil and gas will be rewarded.

ELIMINATING GRADES

Motorists using Route 62 between this city and north of Mt Sterling, now find two run-arounds near the Cook Station-Yankeeetown Rd. intersection.

One of these, paved with black top, is at Duff's Fork of Deer Creek, a short distance north of the Cook-Yankeeetown Rd., and the other is immediately south of the same road, where a sharp grade is being reduced. A third grade reduction will be made south of this.

Work of widening and resurfacing the road has been completed for a considerable distance, but this work is "patchy" and not continuous, due to grade changes and other work necessary before the widening and resurfacing is carried out.

At the present rate of progress it may be late fall before the work is completed by John R. Jergens, Inc., of Newtown.

However, when finished, the improvement will be a worthwhile one and extend from the city limits to 300 yards north of the B & O overhead crossing at Era.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

August and early September long have been "slack" days on the farm, so to speak, and in former years this was the time of year, that was spent in hauling the accumulation of manure from the feedlots, as most of the corn stalks left from feeding fodder had decayed and had to be moved to make way for the next feeding of cattle, horses and hogs.

In past years the job was a hard one, and all of the work was done with pitchforks. The manure usually was loaded in gravel beds on two horse wagons, and the beds torn apart and the compost dumped the same as dumping gravel. Later spreaders were used.

This was about all fertilization given comparatively new ground and the year-after-year plan of growing corn, wheat and grass was followed.

Now, as I saw recently in northern Fayette County, the method of loading manure had changed.

A bulldozer with scoop attached for loading was being used in moving the accumulation into a large dump truck, so that two men could do as much work in a single day as several men formerly could do over a period of two or three weeks.

Citizen's Highway Committee Gives 4 Ohio Objectives

COLUMBUS (AP)—A four point objective for the Ohio Citizens Highway Committee has been agreed upon as follows:

1. Pointing up the relationship between a modern highway program, the nation's defense program, saving of human lives and maintenance of Ohio's rapidly expanding economy.
2. Pointing up the wasted involved in unnecessary delays in carrying forward the state's highway program.
3. Pointing up the necessity of maximum cooperation among federal, state and local governments if the highway program is to be expedited.
4. Making recommendations relative to development and expediting of Ohio's highway program to federal, state and local governments and private groups.

Poultry Inspection Law Signed by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has signed a bill requiring compulsory inspection of poultry and poultry products.

The bill provides (1) compulsory inspection by the Agriculture Department to assure wholesomeness of poultry and poultry products, placed on the market, (2) maintenance of sanitary facilities and practices at slaughter and processing plants, and (3) correct and informative labeling.

The legislation is designed to protect the public from shipment across state lines of unwholesome and adulterated poultry.

Dr. Mary Walker, one of the first women to wear pants and other masculine clothing in public, was awarded the Medal of Honor for her services as a physician in the War Between the States.

Axle Firm Lays Off 350 Cleveland Aides

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Eaton Manufacturing Co. announced today that about 350 employees at its axle division here had been laid off because of a drop in orders for truck axles.

Most of the company's 1,800 shop workers have been on a four-day week because of a drop in truck sales this year, the announcement said. The 400 office workers were not affected.

Stolen Dagger Found Taken by Gotham Boy

NEW YORK (AP)—An ornate poisoned dagger that disappeared 11 days ago from the Bronx apartment of an Indonesian consular official was back in the hands of the owner today.

Police accused a 16-year-old boy of taking it.

The boy, Ernest Raymond, 16, son of the superintendent of the apartment building, was charged with burglary.

He washed the dagger and rubbed it dry after reading in newspapers that it has been dipped in a lethal poison.

Total world production of uranium metal in 1956 was estimated to be between 14,000 and 15,000 tons.

Ohio Rated as No. 2 State On Nation's Industrial List

Editor's Note: Ohio's lush industrial climate has elevated it to the No. 2 spot in the nation—behind New York. Within the next 10 years, the state hopes to overtake the current industrial leader, Columbus Associated Press Staff Writer Bill Terry, in a series of three articles, tells why Ohio has been so fortunate, and what might be expected for the future. The first of the series follows:

By BILL TERRY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Ohio now is the nation's No. 2 industrial state, second only to New York. Within the next 10 years Ohio hopes to overtake New York—a statement that has been made repeatedly by government and business officials.

To achieve that, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce is developing a 10-year plan. And the chamber, which has as members more than 5,000 firms and corporations doing business in the Buckeye state, believes Ohio's natural advantages give it a good start.

In the last 10 years Ohio passed both Illinois and Pennsylvania in the industrial production race. The chamber believes Ohio's industrial future looks exceptionally bright against a background of a rapid growth in population and sharp gains in industrial production.

Ohio now has more than nine million people, according to estimates, and ranks fifth in population. The U.S. Census Bureau estimates Ohio should pass Illinois and Pennsylvania to become the third most populous state 15 years from now.

People mean markets for goods, workers for factories. No less an authority than Dr. Clyde E. Williams, president of Battelle Memorial Institute, large industrial research organization in Columbus, says that Ohio's geographical location is its most potent asset industrially.

This means closeness to markets and raw materials, plus good transportation. He says: "Undoubtedly, Ohio's vast resource of cheap coal, available for the production of low-cost power, is of vital importance in this age of electricity. Similarly important are other minerals used in the production of iron and steel, chemicals, and other materials basic to a diversified industry. Of paramount importance as a resource is Ohio's iron and steel industry whose widely diversified products attract numerous types of manufacturing to the state."

Ohio's steel industry will continue to grow, he believes, and that growth will attract increasing numbers of manufacturers of machinery and machine tools. And the machinery and tools industries are destined for dynamic growth, he adds, because automation will dictate replacement or renovation of some industrial plants.

No agency has kept an account of the industries that have located in Ohio in the last 10 years or so. But in the last dozen years more than 20 completely new automotive plants have been built in more than 450 acres under roof, provide 65,000 jobs, and have a combined annual payroll of about three billion dollars.

The chemical industry also has grown rapidly in northern Ohio, and plants have sprung up along the Ohio River and in industrial cities.

The reasons why one large manufacturer—Olin Mathieson—chose Ohio for a huge new plant are given by its executive vice president, Walter F. O'Connell. He said the company selected the east central location at Clarington on the Ohio River in Monroe County because it is near top quality coal deposits which will provide a vast power. It also is close to the center of the aluminum buying market. And the Ohio River gives excellent deep-water transportation.

Ohio industrial boosters say that 75 per cent of the nation's consumer markets are within a 500-mile radius of Ohio. They say that's one main reason Ohio leads in the manufacture of a long list of products.

The Watusi tribesmen in Belgian Equatorial Africa average about seven feet tall.

Tony Perkins Is New Idol

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (P)—If Tab Hunter can do it so can Anthony Perkins.

Sing, that is I guess you call it singing, though some unkind critics of Hunter's vocal efforts have indicated otherwise. Not so his fans. They hustled out to buy a million and half of his platters of "Young Love."

Now it's young Perkins, another idol of the malt-shop set, who's coming out with a disc called "My First Romance."

The lad has a nice, boyish style and a voice that is well pitched and true, even if it won't give cern.

"The critics haven't been so kind," Tony admitted. "One reviewer questioned whether I was th son of the record company president."

Such barbs don't daunt him. Tony had the last laugh when RCA Victor signed him to a long-term contract that could bring in much loot. If he succeeds, it will be a triumph of persistence. Lima Hospital Guard Restored

COLUMBUS (P)—The Ohio Civil Service Commission has ordered Richard D. Barkimer restored to his job as a $300-a-month guard-attendant at Lima State Hospital, retroactive to Aug. 1.

The removal order came after Barkimer was accused of turning in a sick-leave affidavit that was falsely signed.

It was brought out during a hearing on Barkimer's appeal from the removal that no one knew who signed the affidavit, also was determined the affidavit was not needed in the first place because Barkimer was off duty for only three days.

HEIFNER BUSINESS BUILDING AND HOTEL

JAMESTOWN, OHIO

SATURDAY, AUG. 31, SELLS AT 2:00 P. M.

LOCATED—In the center of Jamestown, Ohio, at the intersection of U. S. Route 35 and State Route 72. The Heifner Business Building and Hotel is without question the best located real estate in Jamestown, Ohio. Very substantial two-story brick building in good state of repair. At the present time, six tenants occupy the seven business rooms on the ground floor. Businesses in the building include a dairy store, jewelry store, barber shop, insurance agency, pool room, and restaurant which occupies two rooms. Rental income from the business rooms is $305.00 per month. There are no existing leases but present tenants are well established and prefer to stay. Second floor consists of 13 rooms furnished as hotel rooms. In addition there is one four-room furnished apartment and one three-room furnished apartment. There are two full and complete bathrooms and four storage rooms. Front and rear exits from second floor to ground level. Mrs. Heifner, present owner, will occupy her apartment on the second floor and continue to run the hotel until time for sale. Average monthly income from the second floor, in addition to her apartment, exceeds $300 per month. Utilities include city water, gas, electricity and sanitary sewer. Automatic gas furnace in the basement heats pool room, dining room of restaurant, and upstairs hall. Three gas hot water heaters. Eleven rooms on the second floor are equipped with lavatories and running water. Most of the business rooms on the first floor have toilet facilities. The south, west and east sides of this building are newly painted and the entire building is under slate and metal roofs. In good condition.

We consider the Heifner Business Building and Hotel one of the best investment properties that we have had an opportunity to offer to the public for some time. Present monthly rental income is in excess of $600.00 and this figure can be substantially increased. Jamestown is a very substantial town and there is every indication that it will continue to grow and prosper through the years.

INSPECTION permitted prior to sale. Sale on the premises. Sells to the highest bidder.

TERMS—$7,500.00 cash at time of sale. Balance to be paid upon delivery of deed. Purchaser will receive good title and possession on or about September 15, 1957.

Ohio Rated as No. 2 State On Nation's Industrial List

Editor's Note: Ohio's lush industrial climate has elevated it to the No. 2 spot in the nation—behind New York. Within the next 10 years, the state hopes to overtake the current industrial leader, Columbus Associated Press Staff Writer Bill Terry, in a series of three articles, tells why Ohio has been so fortunate, and what might be expected for the future. The first of the series follows:

By BILL TERRY
COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohio now is the nation's No. 2 industrial state, second only to New York.

Within the next 10 years Ohio hopes to overtake New York—a statement that has been made repeatedly by government and business officials.

To achieve that, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce is developing a 10-year plan. And the chamber, which has as members more than 5,000 firms and corporations doing business in the Buckeye state, believes Ohio's natural advantages give it a good start.

In the last 10 years Ohio passed both Illinois and Pennsylvania in the industrial production race. The chamber believes Ohio's industrial future looks exceptionally bright against a background of a rapid growth in population and sharp gains in industrial production.

Ohio now has more than nine million people, according to estimates, and ranks fifth in population. The U. S. Census Bureau estimates Ohio should pass Illinois and Pennsylvania to become the third most populous state 15 years from now.

People mean markets for goods, workers for factories.

No less an authority than Dr. Clyde E. Williams, president of Battelle Memorial Institute, large industrial research organization in Columbus, says that Ohio's geographical location is its most potent asset industrially.

This means closeness to markets and raw materials, plus good transportation. He says:

"Undoubtedly, Ohio's vast resource of cheap coal, available for the production of low-cost power, is of vital importance in this age of electricity. Similarly important are other minerals used in the production of iron and steel, chemicals, and other materials basic to a diversified industry. Of paramount importance as a resource is Ohio's iron and steel industry, whose widely diversified products attract numerous types of manufacturing to the state."

Ohio's steel industry will continue to grow, he believes, and that growth will attract increasing numbers of manufacturers of machinery and machine tools. And the machinery and tools industries are destined for dynamic growth, he adds, because automation will dictate replacement or renovation of some industrial plants.

No agency has kept an account of the industries that have located in Ohio in the last 10 years or so. But in the last dozen years more than 20 completely new automotive plants have been built in more than 450 acres under roof, provide 65,000 jobs, and have a combined annual payroll of about three billion dollars.

The chemical industry also has grown rapidly in northern Ohio, and plants have sprung up along the Ohio River and in industrial cities.

The reasons why one large manufacturer—Olin Mathieson—chose Ohio for a huge new plant are given by its executive vice president, Walter F. O'Connell. He said the company selected the east central location at Clarington on the Ohio River in Monroe County because it is near top quality coal deposits which will provide a vast power. It also is close to the center of the aluminum buying market. And the Ohio River gives excellent deep-water transportation.

Ohio industrial boosters say that 75 per cent of the nation's consumer markets are within a 500-mile radius of Ohio. They say that's one main reason Ohio leads in the manufacture of a long list of products.

The Watsui tribesmen in Belgian Equatorial Africa average about seven feet tall.

Soothsayers Give Views On Deflation

No Depression Seen
For U. S. Economy in Immediate Future

Editor's Note: No one is talking of a depression. Some see a mild and short recession ahead, marking the end of the current inflationary pressures. The trends the deflation soothsayers cite are discussed below in the second of a two-part series by Sam Dawson, Associated Press business news analyst.

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—A queasy stock market and some harried industrialists are watching a few small clouds on the horizon today as business heads for its fall test. Most of the economic statistics still point upward. But a number of indicators have turned around and now point down.

All this could change after Labor Day. Many business leaders are confident that consumers will start another buying spree and that 1957 will end on a high note.

Right now, however, other businessmen are worried about backed-up inventories, layoffs due to slow production, loss of government money by cutbacks in defense spending, still lagging home building, the squeeze on business thinking in the spring and early summer may change.

Deflation might then be in the air with the fear that it might get out of hand even if the Federal Reserve jumped in as promised to make money easy.

Some businessmen already charge that the tight money policy has slowed economic activity dangerously.

The worrisome trends haven't set into a firm pattern. It may take another month or so to tell which way the economy will head in the final months of the year. But let's look at some of the trends that are turning Wall Street bulls into bears.

Business spending for expansion and government spending for defense have been two factors putting the heaviest foot on the throttle of the business boom.

Now there are cancellations or postponements of some business building plans. Spending remains at a record high but the volume of new contracts declines. Sometimes tight money is blamed. Sometimes it is a matter of capacity being built beyond current demand.

The Pentagon is trimming back spending with considerable fanfare. The goal of the outgoing defense secretary is to cut military spending by about four billion dollars a year from the rate at which it was galloping in June and July. Skeptics say all the money will be spent eventually, but even so felt in the next few months.

Money voted for foreign aid has a way of coming back in the guise of payments for American products and services. An economy minded Congress appears bent on damming some of this stream.

Building of new homes is about 35 per cent below the 1955 peak. Recent sweetening of mortgage terms has yet to show any effect on home starts.

Retail sales are running slightly ahead of a year ago. But higher prices account for most of that. And big ticket items aren't moving as fast as manufacturers would like.

Sluggish sales in a number of lines are causing inventories to pile up. These probably will be worked off, even if sales picked up in the fall, before new orders are placed in boom-size volume.

Bank loans to business have dropped by 567 million dollars since June 30. In the same period last year they rose by 188 million dollars.

Wholesale commodity prices have stopped their climb. The wholesale food index has dropped from its record high. Price cutting shows up in such things as gasoline, fuel oil, flat glass, copper, zinc, lead and steel scrap.

Prices continue to rise on other items, particularly on services.

The cost of living is at a peak and probably will be the last thing to drop, lagging as usual behind price changes at manufacturing and wholesale levels. And the government's index measures conditions five weeks back.

Personal income continues to climb, but much slower now. Near full employment and rising wage rates prop it. Not until, if at all, the trends listed above develop into real deflationary forces will total personal income turn down.

The road signs still aren't clear. It could still be either inflation or deflation after Labor Day. But the deflation signs are more numerous than a few weeks back.

Lab's Summer Student Aid Program Attractive to 115

By ANNETTE DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP)—In a campus like setting in northwest Washington, 115 science students from 60 colleges and universities are getting a chance to put their book learning to practical, paying use.

At the Diamond Ordnance Fuze Laboratories, an Army research center for electronic devices, the students get a taste of working in a government laboratory, and—equally important—the government gets a chance to evaluate their possibilities as future scientists.

The lab's summer student aid program is one of several in Washington to encourage young people in science careers and to recruit budding scientists for government projects.

Miss Priscilla Edson, a junior in mathematics at Duke University, had a summer job renting apartments before she heard of the program. Now she is working on a mathematical analysis of optical properties of film deposits.

The students receive a starting salary of $225 a month. They are recruited, under Civil Service regulations, from colleges and universities across the country. A few who have shown ability in science are taken directly from high school.

For most, it's their first chance to put academic knowledge to practical use. However, some of the trainees, like David M. Freifelder, a Ph.D. candidate in physics at the University of Chicago, are spending a second summer in Washington.

David, whose home is Waukegan, Ill., told me he likes the freedom at Diamond to do independent research. This summer he is working on a device to replace a tube in a fuze. He says it will cost 1-75th the amount of the present device used by the government.

The supervisor, Dr. Charles H. Klute, had this to say about the student program: "It not only supports the students financially, but the work here will advance them professionally. When they go to look for a job they can say they've had experience."

Another advantage, he says, is the scope of the training. "College textbooks present ideal cases. We never have ideal cases. Ordinarily, a student wouldn't encounter the variety of methods used here until much later in his career."

The man behind the program, Lt. Col. John A. Ulrich, commented: "We need young blood to maintain the quality of our staff. Sometimes the old-timers may be stumped and these young people bring in new ideas."

Out of an average turnover of 25 persons a year, half the replacements are recruited from former student trainees.

"The program works both ways," Ulrich said. "The students get an idea of what goes on in a government laboratory and we have a chance to evaluate the students. We toss out the challenge. If a student shows interest and initiative, he has a job for the rest of his life."

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, ruler of Spain since 1939, began his political career as military governor of the Canary Islands, a Spanish possession off southwest Africa.

Soothsayers Give Views On Deflation

No Depression Seen For U. S. Economy in Immediate Future

Editor's Note: No one is talking of a depression. Some see a mild and short recession ahead, marking the end of the current inflationary pressures. The trends the deflation soothsayers cite are discussed below in the second of a two-part series by Sam Dawson, Associated Press business news analyst.

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—A queasy stock market and some harried industrialists are watching a few small clouds on the horizon today as business heads for its fall test.

Most of the economic statistics still point upward. But a number of indicators have turned around and now point down.

All this could change after Labor Day. Many business leaders are confident that consumers will start another buying spree and that 1957 will end on a high note.

Right now, however, other businessmen are worried about backed-up inventories, layoffs due to slow production, loss of government money by cutbacks in defense spending, still lagging home building, the squeeze on business thinking in the spring and early summer may change.

Deflation might then be in the air with the fear that it might get out of hand even if the Federal Reserve jumped in as promised to make money easy.

Some businessmen already charge that the tight money policy has slowed economic activity dangerously.

The worrisome trends haven't set into a firm pattern. It may take another month or so to tell which way the economy will head in the final months of the year. But let's look at some of the trends that are turning Wall Street bulls into bears.

Business spending for expansion and government spending for defense have been two factors putting the heaviest foot on the throttle of the business boom.

Now there are cancellations or postponements of some business building plans. Spending remains at a record high but the volume of new contracts declines. Sometimes tight money is blamed. Sometimes it is a matter of capacity being built beyond current demand.

The Pentagon is trimming back spending with considerable fanfare. The goal of the outgoing defense secretary is to cut military spending by about four billion dollars a year from the rate at which it was galloping in June and July. Skeptics say all the money will be spent eventually, but even so felt in the next few months.

Money voted for foreign aid has a way of coming back in the guise of payments for American products and services. An economy minded Congress appears bent on damping some of this stream.

Building of new homes is about 35 per cent below the 1955 peak. Recent sweetening of mortgage terms has yet to show any effect on home starts.

Retail sales are running slightly ahead of a year ago. But higher prices account for most of that. And big ticket items aren't moving as fast as manufacturers would like.

Sluggish sales in a number of lines are causing inventories to pile up. These probably will be worked off, even if sales picked up in the fall, before new orders are placed in boom-size volume.

Bank loans to business have dropped by 567 million dollars since June 30. In the same period last year they rose by 188 million dollars.

Wholesale commodity prices have stopped their climb. The wholesale food index has dropped from its record high. Price cutting shows up in such things as gasoline, fuel oil, flat glass, copper, zinc, lead and steel scrap.

Prices continue to rise on other items, particularly on services.

The cost of living is at a peak and probably will be the last thing to drop, lagging as usual behind price changes at manufacturing and wholesale levels. And the government's index measures conditions five weeks back.

Personal income continues to climb, but much slower now. Near full employment and rising wage rates prop it. Not until, if at all, the trends listed above develop into real deflationary forces will total personal income turn down.

Who Founded 100-Year-Old New Holland Church?

NEW HOLLAND—With a centennial celebration only days away, members of the New Holland Church of Christ have not yet solved a curious mystery that shrouds the beginnings of their church.

The problem, the solution to which was lost in the church's 100 years of growth and progress, is this: Who founded the church?

Members do know certain facts about their founder. They know he was an elder from the New Antioch Church of Christ, Clinton County, teaching and preaching along the north fork of Paint Creek in 1857.

But what was his name? What was his background? What happened to him in later years?

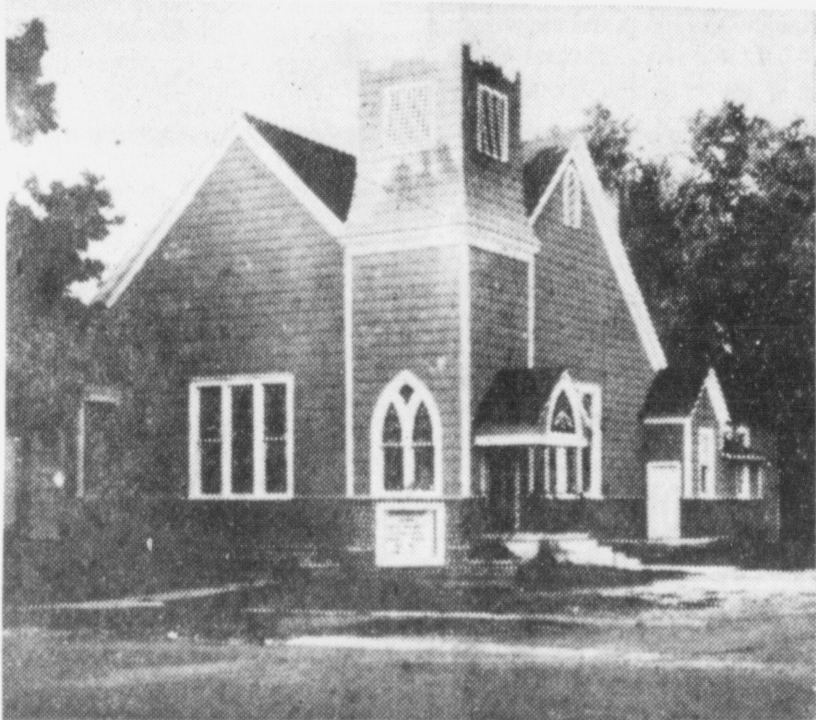

ALL THESE questions remain to be answered. Old church documents, letters and New Holland village records substantiate many facts about church history. But the identity of the founder is hidden in the dark shadows of yesterday.

Actually, the day-long centennial celebration that will be held at the church Sunday is not timed exactly to the founding of the church. The church was founded in April 1857, but it has taken this long for members to formulate plans for their celebration and to select a suitable date.

It was about this time of year in 1857 that the church moved into its first permanent home, though. Some time in the fall of that year members of the new congregation moved into a church building at the north end of the village.

The building, occupied by the Church of Christ for 50 years, is still standing. It is now the home of the Church of Christ in Christian Union.

IN 1900 the congregation was able to purchase an old Presbyterian chapel which was remodeled

THE BASKET DINNER will feature a huge birthday cake, the largest ever seen in New Holland, designed to serve 500 people.

Former members and ministers are expected at the gathering.

Special music will highlight the afternoon program along with a talk by the Rev. Floyd H. Smith, present pastor at the New Antioch Church. The Rev. Mr. Smith, a former New Holland pastor, was invited because of his association with the church out of which the New Holland congregation grew.

Pre-centennial revival services have been held nightly except Saturday since Aug. 19, and will be held through the rest of this week. The Rev. Paul Neal of Portsmouth is conducting the services. Frank Creamer, brother of the Rev. Jean Creamer and an elder of the South Side Church of Christ in Washington C. H., is song leader.

Steel Union Set Plans for Idle Payments

Supplemental Benefit
Deal Illegal Now in
Ohio, 3 Other States

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers have announced a plan for paying supplemental unemployment benefits to 190,000 members in four states where such payments now are outlawed.

The international headquarters said the program affects union members in Ohio, Indiana, North Carolina and Virginia. It was worked out with major steel producers and becomes effective Sept. 1.

The SUB program provides roughly 65 per cent of a laid-off unionist's wage for a total of 52 weeks. The money is entirely paid by the companies.

The USW said the union and the companies have agreed to a court test in Ohio against the ruling of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation administrator.

The Ohio Compensation administrator, James R. Tichenor, ruled either concurrent or lump-sum SUB payments must be deducted from state compensation payments. But, he said, workers who wish to protect their rights against the possibility he may be overruled in the courts, must protest within 10 days after the Ohio Bureau of Compensation rules against them in a SUB case.

"So far," Tichenor said, "I do not have before me a case involving the steel industry's version of SUB, but I rather expect to have one early next week after the industry-USW program goes into effect."

Asked what he plans to do, Tichenor replied:

"If, contrary to my original ruling, after Sept. 1 the steel people lay off a worker because of no fault of his own and he collects his state benefit and a SUB payment in one week, the next week when he comes back for his state payment I will take it away from him."

The SUB cases now before him,

Whites Refuse School Integration

COLP, III. (AP)—A majority of an estimated 40 white children boycotting a previously all-Negro grade school here had enrolled today in other schools.

Not one white pupil has appeared for classes at the school since the fall semester began Monday. William Hatchett, a Negro who heads the school board, said he has "no intention to make anyone do anything he doesn't want to do."

Eighteen of the Colp children enrolled on a tuition basis at nearby Cartersville. Several others moved in with Catterville relatives and were attending the school there. Three enrolled in a Roman Catholic school in Herrin.

Tichenor said, involving the motor car and can industries. He added he hopes for an early court decision on his SUB ruling.

In Indiana and Virginia the manner of paying SUB will go to a special board of arbitration of the regular impartial umpire for U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Republic Steel Corp.

Hearings will begin in Washington on Thursday and all of the major basic producers and the union will participate. Some 69,000 USW members are affected in Indiana.

The supplemental unemployment benefits in basic steel, iron ore mining, aluminum and almost 200 fabricating companies were written into USW contracts in negotiations last summer. The fund now amounts to some 70 million dollars.

Terms of the agreement provide that a qualified laid-off worker will receive a sum of money out of the fund which when added to his regular state unemployment compensation—will bring his income during layoff up to 65 per cent of his former after-tax straight-time weekly wage.

During the period when state unemployment compensation is paid, SUB from the trust fund is limited to $25 per week plus $2 for each dependent up to four. When state payments run out the SUB goes up to a maximum of $47.50 a week plus $2 for each dependent up to four.

Hungarian Refugee Reveals Contrasts

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

American secretaries who complain about occasional overtime, fussy bosses or no air conditioning might take a look at a secretary's lot behind the Iron Curtain.

Hildegard Jones (that's not her real name, of course) is one who has seen both sides. Young, pretty and full of wonder at the fabulous opportunities for a working girl in America, she worked as a secretary in her Communist-dominated native Hungary for five years. After fleeing to Vienna during the tragic uprising in Hungary last year, she arrived in New York early this year and found a secretarial job immediately through the efforts of the National Catholic Welfare Council.

"Nobody back home would believe it if I told them about the beautiful offices, kind treatment, good salaries and modern equipment a secretary has in an office in New York," she says. "If such things were available there, every young woman in the country would try to be a secretary."

She marvels at the statistics in a survey made recently by Norman Saksvig, educational director for Smith-Corona, which reveals that 61 per cent of American secretaries own their own cars or drive the family car; 59 per cent have television sets; 60 per cent own portable typewriters and 66 per cent own record players.

JACK WEBB PLAYS 'D. I.'—Warner Bros. "The D. I.", starring Jack Webb as a Marine drill instructor faced with a difficult problem in whipping a group of young service men into fighting trim, comes to the Fayette Theater Sunday. Jackie Loughery is the beautiful newcomer playing opposite him.

"In Hungary I worked six days a week, and my pay was 1,450 florints (about $55) a month," says

Hildegard. "Here I work five days a week and earn $215 a month. There I had to spend almost all my salary just for food and shelter—there wasn't enough left over for clothes."

TB Hospital Fund Ruling Outlined

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Saxbe has ruled that county commissioners may not require reimbursement for expenses incurred in the care and treatment of patients at the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital. The opinion said that after a resolution has been adopted accepting responsibility by the county and admission has been approved, the county is liable for the charges. The ruling added that when a patient is found not to have tuberculosis, the charge for treatment shall be billed to county commissioners only when the county is being reimbursed for such charges.

Steel Union Set Plans for Idle Payments

Supplemental Benefit
Deal Illegal Now in
Ohio, 3 Other States

PITTSBURGH — The United Steelworkers have announced a plan for paying supplemental unemployment benefits to 190,000 members in four states where such payments now are outlawed.

The international headquarters said the program affects union members in Ohio, Indiana, North Carolina and Virginia. It was worked out with major steel producers and becomes effective Sept. 1.

The SUB program provides roughly 65 per cent of a laid-off unionist's wage for a total of 52 weeks. The money is entirely paid by the companies.

The USW said the union and the companies have agreed to a court test in Ohio against the ruling of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation administrator.

The Ohio Compensation administrator, James R. Tichenor, ruled either concurrent or lump-sum SUB payments must be deducted from state compensation payments. But, he said, workers who wish to protect their rights against the possibility he may be overruled in the courts, must protest within 10 days after the Ohio Bureau of Compensation rules against them in a SUB case.

"So far," Tichenor said, "I do not have before me a case involving the steel industry's version of SUB, but I rather expect to have one early next week after the industry-USW program goes into effect."

Asked what he plans to do, Tichenor replied:

"If, contrary to my original ruling, after Sept. 1 the steel people lay off a worker because of no fault of his own and he collects his state benefit and a SUB payment in one week, the next week when he comes back for his state payment I will take it away from him."

$567,000 Awarded In Plane Crash

DETROIT (AP)—Trans World Airlines and Castleton, Inc., a Kentucky horse breeding farm, have been ordered to pay more than a half million dollars to relatives of six victims of an airliner crash

Union Heights, Ohio, drew the lagest settlement of $140,000, for the death of her husband Joseph.

1800 Workers Set To Vote Strike End

PAINESVILLE —The question of ending a strike that began more than three weeks ago will be voted on Friday by approximately 1,800 members of the Textile Workers Union employed at the Painesville plant of Industrial Rayon Corp. A proposed contract will be up for ratification but neither company nor union disclosed its terms.

Yankee Efforts to Sign Up Sal Maglie May Be Stalled

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, striving to strengthen their injury-riddled pitching staff for the stretch drive, may be balked a second time in an effort to obtain Brooklyn's Sal (The Barber) Maglie, one time scourge of the National League.

In 1955 the Cleveland Indians refused to pass on the 40-year-old righthander when he was placed on the waiver list by the New York Giants after pacing the National League club to the 1951 and '54 championships.

This time it is the Chicago White Sox, who trail the Yankees by 5½ games after losing Wednesday night 5-4, standing in the road of the American League champions.

Chuck Comiskey, vice president of the White Sox, said they claimed Maglie the first time he was placed on the waiver list but that the Dodgers withdrew him.

"This time, we let him go through and will bargain for him," Comiskey said.

The Yankees also waived on the Barber the second time around, thus setting up a battle of dollars.

Under the waiver clause, all clubs in the National League first must waive on Maglie, who is said to be receiving $30,000 for pitching this year. Then all American League clubs, starting the last place Senators, also must waive. A club is permitted to withdraw a player's name only once.

"We have made a substantial offer for Maglie and also Virgil Trucks of Kansas City," said Comiskey.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said he had no knowledge of the efforts to obtain Maglie. There was no comment from other club officials.

Beyond admitting that the Dodgers had asked waivers on Maglie, the Dodgers would admit nothing.

"I'm not peddling him," said vice president Buzzy Bavas. He did admit, however, that another American League club, presumably the White Sox, was interested.

Maglie hulled a no hit game against the Phillies last year and compiled a 13-4 record after being obtained from the Indians.

Panama Slugger Defeats Gomes

BOSTON (AP)—Isidro Martinez today looked hopefully up the featherweight ladder after confounding veteran Harold Gomes.

Martinez, who arrived only recently from Panama, won a unanimous 10-round decision over the Providence, R. I., boy Wednesday night in a nationally televised bout by changing from orthodox to left-handed style.

At first Gomes tried his best to solve Martinez' attack but over the final three rounds the Providence lad was plainly lost.

Martinez sent him down for an eight count in the 10th.

Good Driver Bouquets Handed Out Sparingly

ST. LOUIS — Eighty judges stood at intersections to bestow bouquets upon courteous drivers. It was the first annual "Courtesy Day" sponsored by the Allied Florists' Assn. and the judges had 100 bouquets to give away.

By late afternoon they had found only 70 deserving drivers and the sun had wilted away the awards.

"I'm AWOL from my wife in Cincinnati," said one driver, who refused to give his name and drove off hurriedly after receiving the floral gift.

The great teeth of a hipopotamus were once used for dental ivory.

Idle Pay Claim Totals Holding Steady in Ohio

COLUMBUS — There were only minor changes in totals of new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation for the week ended Aug. 24, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports.

New claims for the week increased from 8,578 to 8,825, while continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more dropped from 50,791 to 49,328.

In both the United States and Great Britain the top 10 percent of the nations received 30 percent of the nation's personal incomes before taxes, says the British Oxford University Institute of Statistics.

Idle Pay Claim Totals Holding Steady in Ohio

COLUMBUS — There were only minor changes in totals of new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation for the week ended Aug. 24, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports.

New claims for the week increased from 8,578 to 8,825, while continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more dropped from 50,791 to 49,328.

In both the United States and Great Britain the top 10 percent of the nations received 30 percent of the nation's personal incomes before taxes, says the British Oxford University Institute of Statistics.

Fayette Herefords Rank High at Fair

Fayette County Hereford growers have won a sheaf of ribbons in open show competition at the Ohio State Fair.

Top showing was made by Fayette Hereford Ranch, Camp Grove Rd., operated by Walter H. Seifried.

The Hereford Ranch won first place for its winter heifer calf; second for senior heifer calf; third for its summer yearling bull and third place for its winter bull calf.

In addition, a steer sold by Ranch was adjudged reserve champion Hereford steer in the Junior Fair and another was chosen first place senior heifer calf in the junior show.

SCOTT AND KNEISLEY'S Pam-R-Nick Farm received a fourth in the senior yearling bull classification; fifth for senior yearling heifer; fifth for junior yearling heifer; 13th for summer yearling heifer and 11th for senior heifer calf.

Nancy Marting's senior yearling heifer placed ninth; Rosalyn Marting's senior yearling heifer placed seventh, and Billy Marting's summer yearling heifer placed seventh.

Jet Manager Compliments Residents

George Finley, co-chairman of the recent "Washington C. H. Night" at the Jets Stadium in Columbus, has received a letter of thanks from Harold M. Cooper, general manager of the Columbus Baseball Club, and also checks for $416 representing the Washington C. H. share in the tickets sold here for the Washington C. H. night program.

The money will be divided equally, according to Finley, between the local Little League and the Babe Ruth League. The money will be used for the organizations' future promotion.

Finley and Ralph Bray served as co-chairman of the Washington C. H. Night. Hundreds of local baseball enthusiasts attended, in addition to most members of the Little League teams which have played here this summer.

In the letter received by Finley, Cooper says: "On behalf of the Columbus Baseball Club I wish to thank you for your cooperation in making the date of Tuesday, Aug. 20, one of the outstanding nights of the season. It certainly was a thrill to see all the baseball clubs in uniform parading around the field. Your city should be very proud of the job they have done for the youth of Washington C. H."

Hams Are Featured On Meat Counters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ham will grace many an American dinner table over the Labor Day weekend, judging by the offerings of the nation's supermarket chains.

With beef prices still on the high side, hams will be featured from around 33 to 57 cents a pound depending on the cut and whether the housewife buys a so-called "ove ready" ham.

Turkeys, relative inexpensive, also will be prominent in the holiday scene.

Egg prices were generally higher around the country again this week, with boosts of three to eight cents a dozen reported. Replacement flocks of chickens are smaller and prices are expected to be high for awhile.

Vegetables and fruits more than make up for the extra pennies spent on eggs, however, with fresh produce coming to market from nearby fields in heavy supply. Especially attractive in price this week are cabbage, all varieties of peppers, potatoes, yellow onions, tomatoes, cucumbers, yellow sweet corn, eggplant and yellow or green squash.

Good buys also are available in potatoes, onions and topped carrots from Western fields, while broccoli and cauliflower are moderate in price.

Seedless grapes, bartlett pears, watermelons and limes are the best bets in fruits, produce men say.

Auto Nudged Over Curb And Up Steps

An automobile was pushed across a sidewalk and into the front door of the Midland Grocery Co. office, 153 S. Main St., in a freak auto accident about 3:15 p. m. Wednesday.

The unoccupied auto, belonging to Mrs. Margaret J. Coil, Leesburg Rd., was parked at the curb when it was hit in the rear by a snail Dayton Power & Light Co. truck driven by George Bainter, 51 of 323 Delaware St.

MRS. COIL'S CAR was jammed against a parking meter and then up the two steps leading to the grocery company office knocking out the glass in one side of the door. The rear end of another parked car, owned by Robert D. Williams of Greenfield, was also hit by the truck.

The trunk lid, bumper, left side, rear and front of the Coil car were damaged. Bumpers and fenders on the truck were dented.

Bainter told police he had been off work because of illness for a week prior to the day of the mishap, and that he blacked out at the wheel and had no idea what happened. He was headed south on Main St. No charges were filed.

DAMAGE was to fenders and headlights in an accident about 2:15 p. m. on W. Court St. just west of Hinde St.

Police said an auto driven by Dr. William E. Lawyer, 34, of 228½ E. Temple St., was headed west when it collided with an eastbound car driven by James T. Perrill, 28, of near Bloomingburg.

Council Names Sheidler to Pension Board

City Council passed one resolution at its regular meeting Wednesday night and spent the remainder of a brief session discussing highway and sewage plant problems.

In the only piece of formal legislation, Council named Deway Sheidler, 510 E. Market St. to the Police Pension Board. Sheidler, an insurance agent, will fill the unexpired term of Don Gibson who resigned.

Council received a communication from C. H. McKeever, deputy director of the division of planning, Ohio Department of Highways in answer to the city's request for an arterial highway survey in connection with construction of the proposed Cincinnati-to-Conneaut freeway which will bypass Washington C. H.

McKeever said that all pertinent facts necessary for planning a location have been gathered by state forces and turned over to the state's consulting engineers, but councilmen agreed that they would push for a complete study of the local highway situation in order that the city's best interests will be served.

10 Lepers Die in Fight

SEOUL (AP) — Ten lepers were killed and another 21 seriously injured Wednesday night in a fight with a group of villagers near Samchonpo. The villagers had demanded the lepers move out of a settlement near the village.

Marilyn Writsell, who received a grade of B plus. Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Writsell, and a member of the Marion Circlettes.

THREE INDIVIDUAL and two team demonstrations of homemaking practices were also entered in the junior division of the State Fair.

Team demonstrators, Ruth and Helen Sheeley, received a grade of A for their nutrition demonstration of simple salads. Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Sheeley, they are members of the Buzzin' Duzzin' 4-H Club.

Carolyn Hyer and Ann Waters of the Scissors Whizzers 4-H Club received a grade of B for their team demonstration showing first aid principles. Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hyer and Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waters.

Individual demonstrations were given by Melanie McCullough who received a grade of C, Carolyn Riterour judged C plus, and Mary Ann Creamer graded B.

Melanie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch McCullough and a member of the Chaffin Chicks, showed yeast roll shaping. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Riterour, Carolyn is a member of the Button 'N' Batter 4-H club. She gave a dairy foods demonstration. Mary Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ance Creamer, demonstrated poultry foods. She is a member of the Button 'N' Batter 4-H club.

Leesburg Youth's Dream Comes True

LEESBURG—Richard Syferd, a member of the Future Farmers of America at Fairfield High School, achieved a dream he has held through six seasons' competition at the Ohio State Fair this week.

Syferd won the All-Ohio FFA swine showmanship contest at the Fair.

Previous to winning the showmanship award, Dick had won the FFA breed championship with a Poland China Boar and the junior show championship with the same animal. He also won a second in the Poland China breeding gilt class.

Japanese Farm Expert Visits Fayette County

Fayette County was host to Kichiro Imaizumi Wednesday.

Imaizumi is coordinator of research programs for the Japanese Ministry of Agriculture and is in the United States studying soil conservation projects.

One member of a party of five now in this country, Imaizumi will spend three weeks in Ohio before going to Washington D. C. and then back to Japan by way of Hawaii. The five arrived in San Francisco May 30 and expect to leave Sept. 26. Before arriving in Columbus last Sunday, Imaizumi had toured the states of Arizona, Washington, Oklahoma, and Louisiana.

His trip is sponsored by the International Cooperation Administration.

Fayette county farms visited by Imaizumi Wednesday included those of Charles Haigler & Sons, Ralph Agle, Emerson Marting, Harold C. Mark and Frank Sollars.

Local arrangements were in charge of Lee Cleland, Farm planner for the Fayette Conservation District. Guiding Imaizumi during the stay in Ohio is Curtis Steele, area conservationist working out of Columbus.

Texas Girl Is Calm As Poison Snake Hits

HUGHES SPRINGS, Tex. (AP) — Frances Marks, 11, was playing near a stock pond Wednesday when a water moccasin embedded its fangs in her hand.

Unable to get her hand loose, the girl used a pocket knife with which she had been playing to cut the reptile's fangs from her hand. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marks described the snake as about four feet long and six inches in diameter.

Hospital attendants later removed her from the critical list.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Cecil Thomas, 206 McKinley, is recovering satisfactorily from surgery performed in Grant Hospital, Columbus, Wednesday.

Navy Fireman George W. Hatfield, 523½ North St., is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Chara, now a part of the U. S. Seventh Fleet. The Chara, whose primary mission is to service ships of the Seventh Fleet, is scheduled to visit the Japanese ports of Yokosuka, Sasebo, Kobe and Nagoya.

Dr. and Mrs. James E. Rose, children, Barbara and Eddie, and Johnny Brubaker, joined in Washington D. C. by Miss Mary Waters, a former local resident, now an airline hostess with Capital Airlines, spent a day cruising on the Battleship Iowa, the guests of Ronald Kinney, electronics technician, Officer Third Class, a graduate of Washington High School. They were given demonstrations of radar equipment and a simulated bombing by "enemy" planes. Mrs. Rose and Barbara returned home yesterday, the male members of the party being joined by John Schoonover for a fishing trip in Tennessee.

Texas Girl Is Calm As Poison Snake Bites

HUGHES SPRINGS, Tex. (AP) — Frances Marks, 11, was playing near a stock pond Wednesday when a water moccasin embedded its fangs in her hand.

Unable to get her hand loose, the girl used a pocket knife with which she had been playing to cut the reptile's fangs from her hand.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marks described the snake as about four feet long and six inches in diameter.

Hospital attendants later removed her from the critical list.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Cecil Thomas, 206 McKinley, is recovering satisfactorily from surgery performed in Grant Hospital, Columbus, Wednesday.

Navy Fireman George W. Hatfield, 523½ North St., is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Chara, now a part of the U. S. Seventh Fleet. The Chara, whose primary mission is to service ships of the Seventh Fleet, is scheduled to visit the Japanese ports of Yokosuka, Sasebo, Kobe and Nagoya.

Dr. and Mrs. James E. Rose, children, Barbara and Eddie, and Johnny Brubaker, joined in Washington D. C. by Miss Mary Waters, a former local resident, now an airline hostess with Capital Airlines, spent a day cruising on the Battleship Iowa, the guests of Ronald Kinney, electronics technician, Officer Third Class, a graduate of Washington High School. They were given demonstrations of radar equipment and a simulated bombing by "enemy" planes. Mrs. Rose and Barbara returned home yesterday, the male members of the party being joined by John Schoonover for a fishing trip in Tennessee.

Courts

DIVORCE GRANTED

Charlene Drake, Route 3, Greenfield, has been granted a divorce in Common Pleas Court from Emerson Drake, Troy. They were married Nov. 19, 1955 in Troy. In her action Mrs. Drake asked that she be allowed to resume her former name, Charlene Campbell, that the defendant pay certain medical expenses incurred by the plaintiff and costs. These requests were granted by Judge John P. Case.

Hospital Treats Griddler, Child

A high school football player and a child sustained injuries that brought them to the emergency room at Memorial Hospital Wednesday.

Injured during Washington C. H. high school practice at Gardner Park, Charles Pendergraft, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Pendergraft of 422 E. Sixth St., was treated for a sprain of the right forearm.

John Huff, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huff of Route 6, was treated for a cut on the abdomen he sustained when a swing set fell on him.

U. S. Endorses Solon
